Discount Rate Boosted By Fed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board has decided to boost the rate it charges member banks for borrowing money for the first time in a year, but says it shouldn't lead to another increase in interest rates across the nation.

The board announced Friday that, effective Monday, the discount rate that it charges member banks for borrowing will go from 4.5 per cent to 5 per cent.

While most other short-term interest rates usually scaled upward from the discount rate, the Federal Reserve has not used the discount rate, as it is called, in setting the nation's monetary policy in recent years.

The board described its action as a "passive adjustment" to keep the discount rate in line with other short-term rates. It believed the discount rate was too low in comparison with the prime lending rate, now around 6 per cent. The prime lending rate is the interest rate that the nation's commercial banks charge their biggest and best customers.

The board likes to keep the discount rate about one per cent below the prime rate. Because of the bigger gap, it said, borrowings from the Federal Reserve system had nearly doubled in the past four weeks.

The announcement noted that the discount rate is now where it stood on Aug. 15, 1971, when President Nixon announced his wage-price-rent freeze. The board dropped the rate to 4.5 per cent in December 1971.

Interest rates are not, nor have they ever been, under President Nixon's wage-price controls. Controlling them might dry up funds for lending, the administration feels.

Dead Car Battery Reunites Long-Separated Brothers

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Two brothers who lived within blocks of each other without knowing it after being separated by adoption 15 years ago will be reunited in Korea — all because of a dead car battery.

Carl P. Ladd, 20, and Michael C. Graham, 21, were among six children taken from their parents' custody by juvenile authorities and placed in foster homes when they were just starting school.

Their paths crossed many times as they grew up, but they never realized they were related.

Sign Agreement On Power Plants

MOSCOW (AP) — The General Electric Co. announced Friday it has signed a basic agreement with the Soviet Union for scientific and technical cooperation in power generation technology.

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, executive of the company's power generation division, told newsmen the agreement signed with the Soviet Committee on Science and Technology was "a very long-term foundation agreement."

General Electric signed a protocol a year ago on exchange of information on gas turbines used for generating power. The company has in the past sold gas turbines to the Soviet Union as well as a pipeline monitoring system that includes a computer.

Rhodes To Oppose Gilligan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Gov. James A. Rhodes said today he is circulating petitions to run for governor in 1974.

In a letter to leaders of Ohio Republican organizations around the state Rhodes said he had been urged "by many party organizations and individuals to run for governor."

"These friends believe I can furnish the kind of leadership Ohio needs," Rhodes said. "In view of this, and based upon my continued interest in good government for all the people of Ohio, I have decided to run for governor in 1974."

Rhodes said he was circulating petitions early because "there seems to be a question in some peoples' minds regarding my eligibility to run."

Rhodes referred to state constitutional provisions which prohibit a governor from serving three terms. Rhodes served two terms, from 1963 through 1970. The question is whether the law forbids three consecutive terms, or three terms at any time.

"I intend to conduct this campaign with vigor and determination," Rhodes said in his letter. "I need your help. I can and shall win."

Gordon Peltier, former Commerce Director under Rhodes and the attorney who drew up the nominating petition, said "there's no question in our minds as regards his constitutional right to run."

"We don't know how long it will be or even if a suit will be filed challenging his right to run, but we want to be prepared to clear it up as soon as we can," Peltier said.

"The challenge might come from somebody who would like to have the nomination for himself," Peltier said, adding he had no one specific in mind.

Rhodes was in New Orleans for the National Vocational Education Conference and could not be reached immediately for comment.

Spokesmen for Gov. John J. Gilligan, who already has said he will run for reelection in 1974, said they had no comment on Rhodes' decision.

Laird Issues Guidelines On Offenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting to meet complaints by black servicemen that they receive harsher punishments for minor offenses than whites, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has issued strict guidelines designed to insure equal treatment.

From now on, Laird directed Friday, servicemen whose punishments are handled by their commanding officers must have legal advice available.

Each serviceman must be advised of his right to appeal even minor punishments and those punishments must not be imposed pending action on any appeal.

And, Laird said, a man who agrees to have his case considered by his commander must be given "the opportunity for full presentation ... to include, but not limited to, the right to call witnesses, present evidence and be accompanied by a person to speak on his or her behalf."

Laird said also that such proceedings must be opened to the public when the accused requests it, "except in those instances where military exigencies or security interests preclude public disclosure."

Servicemen accused of non court-martial offenses may either have their cases handled by their commanders or may refuse and request a court martial. Any punishment meted out by the commander, however, does not appear in a man's permanent service record as does that handed down by a court martial.

Gilligan Records Kept

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Records of Gov. John Gilligan's administration and taped interviews with government officials will be preserved in the Ohio Historical Center after the governor leaves office.

"They can't lose students without it causing some budget problems," he said. "It costs them student fees and causes them to lose state subsidies."

The fact that school enrollment dipped or even remained stable at Ohio universities this year came as a surprise, Coulter said.

"We didn't expect enrollment to stabilize until 1977 or 1978," he said. "As a result, we don't know what to State subsidies to Ohio universities are based on the enrollment of students at the institutions. The enrollments at some universities declined substantially this school year, while other institutions showed only modest gains.

Coulter said university officials are presently "scratching their heads" on the planning of budgets because of the enrollment situation.

University Chiefs Anxious To See Budget Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When Gov. John J. Gilligan reveals his new budget Wednesday, presidents of Ohio's universities will be listening closely for their share of state revenue.

Acting Chancellor William Coulter of the Ohio Board of Regents said the university officials are particularly interested in the budget this year because of the changing patterns of higher education enrollment.

Kissinger-Nixon Meeting Slated

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger flies back to the United States today for consultations with President Nixon after concluding his latest talks with Le Duc Tho. The planned session with Nixon apparently marks a climax in the search for peace in Vietnam.

Presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler, who announced Kissinger's return to newsmen at the Florida White House, declined to categorize the status of the Paris talks but suggested their length should be noted.

He said Kissinger would fly to Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami and arrive late tonight at Key Biscayne, Fla. He added that Kissinger would meet with Nixon shortly after his arrival and the two would meet again Sunday. Kissinger and Tho continued their talks for the sixth straight day this morning in an American-owned villa in suburban St. Nom la Breteche.

Some reports said Nixon's top foreign-policy adviser and the Hanoi Politburo member had made definite progress. But North Vietnam said Nixon's strategy to negotiate from a position of strength had been defeated. Swedish Prime Minister Olof Palme, who met for 90 minutes Friday with North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy, told newsmen today, "It is not at all certain that there will be an agreement." He declined to elaborate or to disclose details of his talk with Thuy.

"I am disappointed that there is no peace already," Palme said. "But the talks must go on. There is a great opportunity of achieving results since the two sides were so close in October."

Palme, one of the most severe critics of U.S. policy in Vietnam, is in Paris for a meeting of the Socialist International.

More Watergate Pleas Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — More guilty pleas may be brewing in the Watergate trial, according to reports, with defendants and attorneys conferring over the weekend after a mysterious closed-door court session.

It was understood that four of the defendants were feeling pressure Friday to plead guilty and avoid further trial, as did former White House consultant E. Howard Hunt Jr.

But at least two of the defendants, G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr., were reported holding out for a full trial that may take many weeks. It resumes Monday in open session.

No public business was conducted Friday in the trial of the six remaining persons charged in connection with the break-in and alleged bugging last June 17 of Democratic National headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex.

After government prosecutors argued peripheral motions in the U.S. Court of Appeals in the morning, U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica moved into a surprise closed-door session in the afternoon with only the defendants, their lawyers, and a hastily summoned Spanish interpreter present.

Henry B. Rothblatt, New York lawyer defending four Miami defendants was questioned about reports that the group might replace him with an attorney who would agree to enter a guilty plea.

"This could happen. An attorney can be dismissed at any time," Rothblatt replied.

Asked if there was a possibility of guilty pleas being offered, Rothblatt said, "Not by me."

Meanwhile, reports persisted that the Miami defendants, all with Cuban backgrounds, may plead guilty.

Newsday, a Long Island, N.Y., newspaper, reported that the four had been promised $1,000 each for every month they spend in jail and an undisclosed lump sum when they get out of prison if they plead guilty.

The paper said sources close to the defendants identified the group promising the cash only as "friends from Miami," including, the paper said, a prominent figure in the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion.

Asked about the Newsday report, Rothblatt said there were "a lot of rumors floating around." But he denied this one.

Hunt, a former White House consultant, pleaded guilty Thursday to all six of the counts against him after Sirica refused to accept the plea to only three of the counts. Sirica set a stiff $100,000 bond for Hunt, but it was put up quickly. Hunt is now awaiting sentencing which could add up to as much as 50 years in prison.

The Miami defendants are Bernard L. Barker, a real estate executive, and three of his associates, Eugenio R. Martinez, Frank A. Sturgis and Virgilio R. Gonzalez.

All of the defendants except Liddy, who was once with the FBI, have past connections with the Central Intelligence Agency.

The seven were indicted on counts charging them variously with offenses from burglary to wiretapping. McCord, Barker, Martinez, Sturgis and Gonzalez were captured at gunpoint last June 17 inside the Watergate complex.

Pentagon Papers Jurymen Chosen; Testimony Slated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Our fate is in their hands," says Daniel Ellsberg of the jury chosen to judge him and Anthony Russo in the Pentagon Papers trial. "I think to a large extent the liberties of all of us are in their hands."

Ellsberg and Russo appeared jubilant after the final designation Friday of 10 women and two men, including Vietnam war veteran, as the jury. They are the second set of jurors chosen in the case.

Last summer, another panel was sworn; but, after a four-month trial delay for appeals, that group was dismissed. The defense had contended the panel had been influenced by publicity in the interim.

"I'm in love with this jury," Russo told newsmen. "I think it's a great jury."

The key factor apparently weighed by both defense and prosecution attorneys in exercising challenges to potential jurors was their view of the Vietnam war. The government used most of its challenges to remove persons with strong antiwar views, while the defense eliminated those with hawkish opinions.

Ellsberg, 41, and Russo, 35, former researchers on government projects, are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft in connection with the leak to news media in 1971 of top-secret documents detailing origins of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

Both outspoken opponents of the war, Ellsberg and Russo admit their roles in releasing the Pentagon Papers but say they did it to help end the war. They contend they broke no law because the information rightfully belonged to the American public. The government says the defendants violated classification laws by releasing material relating to national defense.

War views of the jurors vary — from the ex-Marine who declared, "I pray for peace," to the woman electronic assembler who said, "I just stand behind my country."

Most members of the panel agreed that the war should end soon.

Taft Calls For GOP Party Meet

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., now a member of the Ohio Republican Central Committee, wants a committee meeting immediately, and chided GOP Chairman John Andrews for not calling one sooner.

Taft said that if Republicans are going to unseat Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan in 1974, the groundwork should be laid now and that the Central Committee should lead the way.

"We didn't exactly do well in the last election," said Taft.

"I think maybe he—Andrews—should call the Central Committee together and tell us why we didn't."

"More important," he added, "we should start deciding what to do about it," now that the Democrats control the state house and governor's office.

Taft became a member of the Central Committee in a primary fight in May with Earl T. Barnes, Hamilton County GOP head and a former supporter of former Gov. James A. Rhodes. Taft defeated Rhodes in the 1971 senatorial primary. Taft said the split in Hamilton County has since been healed.

Taft declined to name a personal preference for the 1974 gubernatorial candidate.

Pay Raises Ordered By Court

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Seventy-six Fairfield, Ohio city employees will get their raises in 1973 but it took a court order.

City auditor George Schiering had refused to pay the raises order by city council, claiming that some of them exceed the 5.5 federal guidelines. He wanted approval from the Internal Revenue Service first.

The city filed suit and Butler County Common Pleas Court Judge Fred B. Cramer ordered the auditor to pay up Friday.

Schiering said he would comply but noted that President Nixon has now scrapped the guidelines in favor of voluntary action by labor and management.

He said that effective Jan. 11 the guidelines are "not mandatory but the government expects a voluntary and reasonable compliance with this established percentage."

He complained that some raises were more than 10 per cent.

Albert Consolidates Power As Speaker Of The House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Carl Albert has emerged in the 93rd Congress with new powers and an apparent determination to use them to take charge of the House.

A combination of chance events and actions by the Democratic majority has placed Albert, starting his second term as speaker, in position to be as powerful a one as his political mentor, the late Sam Rayburn.

"Carl Albert will be a tremendously strong speaker," says Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., the new majority leader. "He was new last time and had to feel his way."

O'Neill's election as majority leader, replacing Hale Boggs of Louisiana, is one of the events that has given Albert tighter control of the House leadership.

Boggs, who vanished in an Alaskan plane crash, fought his way to the majority leadership in a tough election two years ago. His ambition to be speaker and his strong personality made his relations with Albert bumpy at times. O'Neill, affable and easy-going, is far more of a team player.

Another event that has greatly boosted Albert's power is the retirement of Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., a leader of the conservative coalition in the House, who as chairman of the Rules Committee often obstructed the flow of legislation to the floor.

Colmer has been replaced by Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., who remains an ardent New Dealer at age 80 and who will give the green light to any bill Albert wants. It will be the first time since the New Deal that the Rules Committee and the Democratic leadership have been in such harmony.

Anticipating a tough struggle with President Nixon over the next two years, House Democrats are shoring up their leadership in preparation for battle.

Albert cemented his control over the Rules Committee Wednesday by exercising some of the new power given to him by the Democratic caucus, which made him, O'Neill, and caucus chairman Olin Teague of Texas members of the select group that assigns Democrats to committees.

Resisting heavy pressure from Southerners who wanted Colmer replaced by another conservative, Albert got Democrats he can count on named to three vacancies on the Rules Committee.

The caucus also is preparing to give Albert a potential club over committee chairmen by requiring they be confirmed every two years by vote of the full caucus. A new rule to accomplish this is due to be adopted at the next party caucus. The House Democratic caucus includes all party congressmen.

Essex Parents Blame Society For Son's Killing Spree

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP) — The mother of Mark J. Essex says society was responsible for the death of her son, identified by police as the New Orleans sniper.

The shooting in which her son was killed and six other persons died by sniper fire is a "clear signal for White America to get off the seat of its pants and do something," Mrs. Mark Essex told newsmen Wednesday.

"If this terrible thing will awaken black America to the injustices that blacks suffer, then some good will come of it," she said.

Mrs. Essex and her husband have scheduled a news conference today.

Essex, a 23-year-old black, was shot to death by police on the roof of the Downtown Howard Johnson's hotel in New Orleans after sniper fire erupted at the hotel Sunday.

Essex' body is to be returned here from New Orleans today. Funeral services are scheduled for Saturday morning, with the Rev. W.A. Chambers, a close family friend, officiating.

"We must cease provoking people to the point that they must seek revenge to get even with society," Essex' father said Wednesday as he and his wife spoke with newsmen for the first time since their son was identified as the slain sniper.

"I blame society," he said.

Mrs. Essex said her son did not hate white men, "he hated what the white man stood for, the white system. He knew whites, he went to school with whites, he dated a white girl and then he told me that he didn't know why blacks dated white girls because they're no different than black girls and they're not as beautiful."

Balking B52 Pilot Enlists Aid Of Senator In Stand

SAIGON (AP) — The B52 commander who refused to fly combat missions has written his senator and says, "I hope Congress can do what they can to end the war. I've done what I can."

Capt. Michael J. Heck, 30, of Chula Vista, Calif., says he wrote Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., on Thursday.

"I informed him of the situation, and told him what has happened, my views on the war," said Heck. "I thought he might take an interest and he might be able to do some good. He might use his influence to push congressional action to stop the thing. It might be of interest that somebody else had decided to end the war."

"I thought I might make somebody on that level aware of what was going on."

Heck said he had never met Tunney but wrote to him "because I've been much in agreement with the comments I've heard him make."

The B52 pilot is now performing administrative duties at his base in southern Thailand while the Air Force decides whether to court-martial him, approve his resignation or approve his application to be classified a conscientious objector, which is tantamount to discharge from the service.

If tried and convicted on the charge of failure to obey an order to fly a combat mission, Heck could receive two years in prison.

His letter of resignation is going through military channels to Washington.

Heck flew his last B52 mission, his 175th of the war, on Christmas Eve at the height of the aerial blitz against Hanoi and Haiphong. Then he refused to fly any more. He is the first American pilot known to have refused to go into combat in the Vietnam war.

'Grandma' Gatewood Honored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Emma Gatewood, an 85-year-old Centerville woman who has hiked more than 8,500 miles in the last 20 years, was awarded the Governor's Community Action Award and Award of Merit at Cedar Falls today.

Mrs. Gatewood was honored with the awards by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources for outstanding contributions to outdoor recreation in the state.

The department's director, William B. Nye, presented the awards to the octogenarian during the lunch break of the Resources Department's annual six-mile winter hike through Hocking Hills State Park.

"Grandma" Gatewood, as she is fondly called by many people who have accompanied her on treks, has hiked the 2,000-mile Appalachian Trail three times and the 2,500-mile Oregon Trail once.

She was 65 when she started the first of those hikes.

Mrs. Gatewood described the Hocking Hills hike as being "no sweat." The agile trouper, who is the mother of 11 children, has been a group leader for the hike for the last seven years. She is also an active member of the National Campers and Hikers Association.

Clements Wouldn't Rule Out Possible Atomic Bomb Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — William P. Clements Jr., President Nixon's nominee to the No. 2 post in the Pentagon, says he would not rule out the use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam.

"I wouldn't eliminate it, but that is not to say I'd be in favor of it either," the Dallas oil-drilling contractor told the Senate Armed Services Committee Thursday.

Appearing at his hearing for confirmation as deputy secretary of defense, Clements' comments on use of nuclear weapons came in response to what he called "philosophical questions" by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa.

Clements said he would support the military decisions of President Nixon. Would that include the use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam if peace negotiations fail, Hughes wanted to know?

"I would have to study that," Clements responded. "I am not prepared to make that choice today."

Would he eliminate the thought of using nuclear weapons?

"I wouldn't eliminate it, but that is not to say I'd be in favor of it either," Clements replied.

Clements said he recognized the difference between conventional warfare and the use of tactical nuclear weapons.

Recognizing that difference, Hughes asked if Clements was not prepared to say whether "the line should be crossed."

"That would depend entirely on what the circumstances are, where, when, who," Clements responded.

Find Graffiti In Sniper's Apartment

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Slogans forming a virtual litany of hate covered the walls of an apartment rented by the sniper who was killed after six persons died at a downtown hotel here last weekend.

"My destiny lies in the bloody death of all racist pigs," said one slogan sprayed on the wall from a can of red paint.

"The quest for freedom is death — then by death I shall escape to freedom," read another.

"Hate white people, beast of the earth," was written in another place. And scribbled in pencil on a door-frame: "Dare to struggle, dare to win."

Police confirmed Friday that the dirty, two-room apartment was rented by Mark J. Essex, 23, who was killed by police bullets atop the Howard Johnson's hotel after three policemen, a hotel employee and two hotel guests had died from a sniper's bullets.

Essex had listed three other addresses with various agencies in New Orleans. However, police said, they determined that the disheveled apartment where the graffiti was found was the last one rented by Essex.

Pay Raises Ordered By Court

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Seventy-six Fairfield, Ohio city employees will get their raises in 1973 but it took a court order.

City auditor George Schiering had refused to pay the raises order by city council, claiming that some of them exceed the 5.5 federal guidelines. He wanted approval from the Internal Revenue Service first.

The city filed suit and Butler County Common Pleas Court judge Fred B. Cramer ordered the auditor to pay up Friday.

Schiering said he would comply but noted that President Nixon has now scrapped the guidelines in favor of voluntary action by labor and management.

He said that effective Jan. 11 the guidelines are "not mandatory but the government expects a voluntary and reasonable compliance with this established percentage."

He complained that some raises were more than 10 per cent.

Albert Consolidates Power As Speaker Of The House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Carl Albert has emerged in the 93rd Congress with new powers and an apparent determination to use them to take charge of the House.

A combination of chance events and actions by the Democratic majority has placed Albert, starting his second term as speaker, in position to be as powerful a one as his political mentor, the late Sam Rayburn.

"Carl Albert will be a tremendously strong speaker," says Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., the new majority leader. "He was new last time and had to feel his way."

O'Neill's election as majority leader, replacing Hale Boggs of Louisiana, is one of the events that has given Albert tighter control of the House leadership.

Boggs, who vanished in an Alaskan plane crash, fought his way to the majority leadership in a tough election two years ago. His ambition to be speaker and his strong personality made his relations with Albert bumpy at times. O'Neill, affable and easy-going, is far more of a team player.

Another event that has greatly boosted Albert's power is the retirement of Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., a leader of the conservative coalition in the House, who as chairman of the Rules Committee often obstructed the flow of legislation to the floor.

Colmer has been replaced by Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., who remains an ardent New Dealer at age 80 and who will give the green light to any bill Albert wants. It will be the first time since the New Deal that the Rules Committee and the Democratic leadership have been in such harmony.

Anticipating a tough struggle with President Nixon over the next two years, House Democrats are shoring up their leadership in preparation for battle.

Albert cemented his control over the Rules Committee Wednesday by exercising some of the new power given to him by the Democratic caucus, which made him, O'Neill, and caucus chairman Olin Teague of Texas members of the select group that assigns Democrats to committees.

Resisting heavy pressure from Southerners who wanted Colmer replaced by another conservative, Albert got Democrats he can count on named to three vacancies in the Rules Committee.

The caucus also is preparing to give Albert a potential club over committee chairmen by requiring they be confirmed every two years by vote of the full caucus. A new rule to accomplish this is due to be adopted at the next party caucus. The House Democratic caucus includes all party congressmen.

For those parents who may not have been attending services because they have small children who have not yet learned to sit still during the service, something new has been added. There is now a nursery service at the Derby United Methodist Church. The mothers are taking turns to help provide this extra service for babies thru age four.

Woman, 76 Cares For 54 Children

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "I'll walk by one of these children and all of a sudden he'll look up at me and smile," said Mrs. Stacy Smith, 76. "That little smile makes it worth all the trouble and long hours and scratching to meet the bills."

Mrs. Smith — a cheerful, gray-haired woman — was talking about the home she runs for children with birth defects. She cares for 54 children without public or foundation funds, handling 12 of them as charity cases and charging the parents of the others a small boarding fee.

Churches and civic groups contribute occasional volunteer help, but most of the work is done by Mrs. Smith and a dozen nonprofessionals — friends and neighbors. The children, born with cerebral palsy, blindness or brain damage, are housed dormitory style in Mrs. Smith's big brick home and two adjoining buildings.

Mrs. Smith, a registered nurse, took in her first child more than 40 years ago — shortly after encephalitis left her adopted son severely retarded.

"That gave me a special feeling about these children," said Mrs. Smith, recently honored by local civic clubs as 1972 Woman of the Year. "People think that they can't be happy. But if you love them and show them that you do, they'll begin to respond and smile at you with their eyes."

The children range in age from a few months to late teens. One boy lived with Mrs. Smith for 24 years before dying just before Christmas 1971. Mrs. Smith was at his bedside when he died — "I promised myself a long time ago that I'd never let a baby die alone."

Hold Over Jury Trial

Twelve jurors, hearing testimony for two days in the Gary Swingle trial, were asked to return Monday morning.

The trial to determine an alleged offense of rape by Swingle, of Jackson County, against a young Columbus coed did not appear near its end Friday afternoon so the court adjourned to next week.

The young man is charged with rape and assault with a weapon of the 18-year-old OSU student last summer.

The blender you got for Christmas may become your favorite kitchen appliance. But before you begin blending everything in sight, read the instruction book! You'll find out just what the blender can do. More important, you'll learn to use the appliance properly.

Blenders offer a range of speeds — and for a good reason. Different blending jobs require different speeds. Follow the instructions as you try each new blending job. Resist that impulse to blend everything on "high."

For example, the blender will grate carrots, coconut, cucumbers and other solids. Most instruction books will suggest using a medium speed for this job. If high speeds are used, the solids jump around on top of the blades and the job takes longer. At medium speeds, the solids agitate and are cut up quickly. Another tip-cut carrots and other hard foods into 1-inch pieces and add them through the lid insert while the blades are in motion.

When grating solids, work in small amounts — just a half cup at a time. The blades can't cut if they are covered with chopped or grated food. If you need a large quantity, do several small batches.

The blender will also make relishes and other thick mixtures. This job, too, calls for medium speed. As you work with thick mixtures, stop the blender from time to time and stir the food. The food is apt to become over-mixed on the bottom and not mixed enough on top.

A blender makes quick work of making mayonnaise — again at medium speed. High speeds cause air pockets to form which interfere with the blending action.

Medium speeds are suggested when you use the blender to make cracker and bread crumbs; chop and grind nuts, grate cheese, whip cream, and chop dried fruits.

Your blender can also cover up some of those mistakes made in the kitchen such as lumpy gravy or white sauce. Just pour the sauce into the blender using a low speed and those lumps will disappear. Reheat and serve and no one will know the difference.

These are some other tasks a blender can perform:

STIR to reconstitute dry mild solids and frozen juices, dissolve gelatin, prepare instant puddings, chop hard-cooked eggs and parsley, and prepare malts and shakes.

PUREE cooked or uncooked fruits and vegetables for perfect baby foods and special diet foods.

WHIP cream and prepare thin batters and sauces.

GRATE citrus peel, crumb bread, crackers and cookies; grind coffee, cereal grains and whole spices.

MIX barbecue and basting sauces, salad dressings, marinades, pancake batter.

CHOP fruits, vegetables, nuts, cooked meats and seafoods perfectly.

BLEND heavy batters, heavy sauces, mayonnaise, nut butters, spreads and dips.

LIQUIFY fruits and vegetables in water and other liquid. This speed is ideal for frappes, or grinding extremely hard spices, such as ginger root and nutmeg.

HOWEVER it will not mash potatoes, whip egg whites, grind raw meat, knead stiff doughs, crush ice (with an attachment), extract juices from fruits and vegetables.

This appliance can do many jobs for you, but it will do those jobs better if you follow instructions!

Soil Test To Find 'Menu' Need

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

If you want to know what type of menu the soil under your lawn, garden, or field can provide for growing plants, you can get the answer from a soil test. Results will tell you how much of such foods as nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash you will need to give the plants you want to grow, in addition to what the soil can supply.

And the Soil Test Laboratory at Ohio State University is making it easier for you to check your soil's nutrition supply, especially your lawn or garden, says John Trierweiler, lab supervisor. New and simplified forms and sampling kits are now available.

Soil information sheets for lawn and garden are brand new, Trierweiler explains. They were designed expressly for home lawns or gardens. A sheet is included in a special mailing packet available now at all County Cooperative Extension Service Offices, and soon to be available at garden stores around the state. The packet also includes a mailer - a soil sample bag and an envelope. The cost is $2.

Separate information sheets are also being used for agronomic and horticultural crops. The separate sheets were developed because the old sheets, which were used for all types of crops, were confusing to some people, and did not provide the specific information needed for adequately evaluation soil needs and making recommendations.

The new forms have an updated results section. All pertinent information concerning any test run by the laboratory is listed in this section. Changes in the recommendation section will surprise many users, Trierweiler believes. The computer prints out all headings in this section. The agronomic recommendations printout gives the farmer exactly what he requested in very simple and straight-forward manner. The home lawn or garden printout includes simple recommendations and for lawns includes a table listing the proper amounts of different fertilizers

Wet Weather Bogged Down Fall Tillage

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Wet weather in late 1972 bogged down not only crop harvesting but fall tillage as well. Thus, land preparation for the 1973 growing season is far behind schedule, and farmers may need to consider alternative methods of tillage, says Samuel Bone, Extension Agronomist at The Ohio State University.

Soils that concern most commercial producers now are those which are dark-colored, fine-textured, and have slow internal drainage. These soils are normally plowed during the fall and winter, mainly to even out labor requirements and prevent high labor needs in the spring, Bone explains. Winter tillage on these soils creates few problems even if soil moisture is high and some soil compaction results.

This year, such soils may have considerable crop residue on the surface, and ruts made during harvesting on saturated soils. If so, Bone recommends some type of tillage prior to planting in 1973. This tillage will help to smooth roughness and may prevent volunteer grain in 1973, resulting from harvest loss.

One tillage method on dark-colored, fine-textured soils is plowing - when the soils begin to firm up either as a result of partial drying or freezing. Traction provided by frozen ground or soil firmed by good drainage will permit plowing. Even if the soil is wet, plowing should continue as long as the plow turns the soil. By spring, freezing and thawing will level the ground surface considerably.

An alternative to plowing (on the dark-colored, fine-textured soils) is a smoothing operation by tillage that will incorporate residue and increase surface area so drying of the soil can take place. However, Bone suggests using a disking operation only if harvesting losses were low. If losses were high, disking will do little to control volunteer corn in 1973.

Another alternative is a chisel operation to plow depth some time during the winter.

Most tillage should take place prior to early April on these soils. Research at branches of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in the western part of the state indicates little advantage to tillage just before planting, if tillage has been done previously. So, if tillage has been completed during the winter or early spring, little tillage should be done at planting time. On dark-colored, fine-textured soils where corn will be following soybeans, a no-tillage method could be used with little loss in yield.

Soils on which some tillage may be done prior to planting in the spring include the silt-loam or medium-textured soils. These make up a larger percentage of the soils throughout the state than do the dark-colored, fine-textured soils. These soils should be tilled in the spring. If medium-textured soils have fair internal drainage, or drainage has been improved, the no-tillage method may be used, particularly for corn production. The only requirement on medium-textured soils that have improved drainage is a surface cover by residue of at least 80 percent.

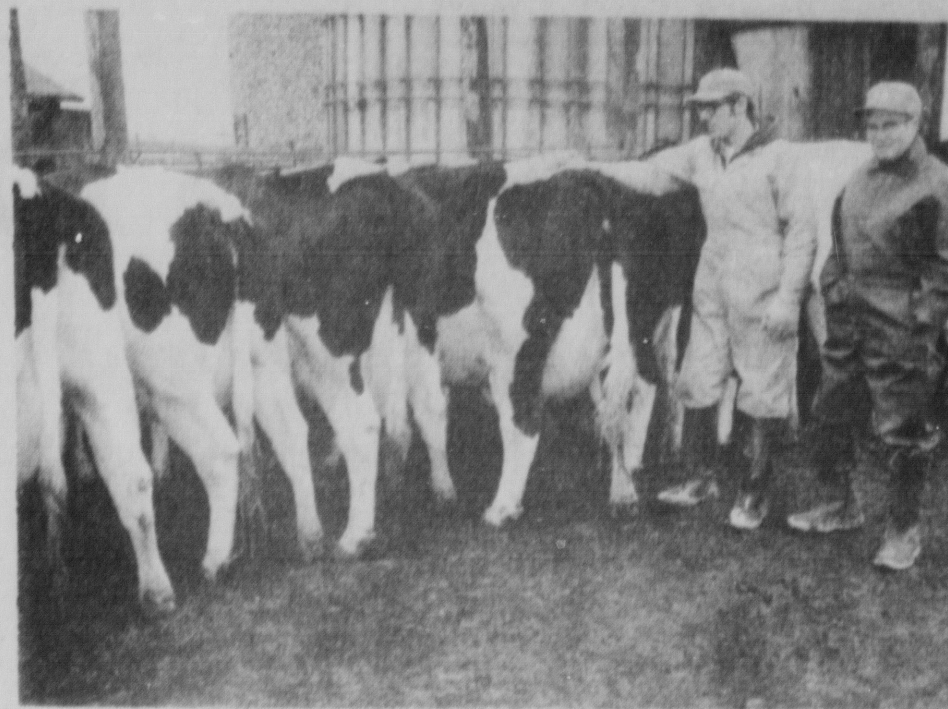

If these soils grew forage crops in 1972, the forage crops can be killed, and no-tillage planting can be done in the residue. If the soil cover is considerably less than 80 percent, ranging as low as 30 to 40 percent, Bone recommends some tillage prior to planting. This does not have to be plowing - a disking or chiseling operation can be substituted for plowing. This operation can be done just prior to planting and will require less time than the plowing operation plus additional tillage.

Light-colored, medium-textured, poorly drained soils should have some tillage prior to planting, regardless of the surface cover. This tillage can be done with a disk or chisel just prior to planting.

To be able to take advantage of adjustments in tillage methods, farmers may need something other than a conventional planter. Bone suggests using planters equipped with a fluted coupler or some type of equipment that does some tillage ahead of seed placement to provide for effective seed placement and desirable plant population.

COUNTY RECORD — Richard Clifton and Herman Hines look over a portion of their herd that has just recently completed two months with over 600 pounds of butterfat running average. This is thought to be a record for Pickaway County Herds. The herd is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hines and managed by Richard Clifton, Route 5. The herd averages for the past two months were: November, 15,595 pounds of milk and 603 pounds of butterfat; December, 15,502 pounds of milk and 603 pounds of butterfat. Richard points out that one of the real contributors to this production record is one of their 2-year old Holstein heifers, Nancy. This young producers rolling average is 20,120 pounds of milk and 703 pounds of butterfat. These records are supervised by the Pickaway County DHIA Supervisor, May Ann Ogg.

to actually turn those first stress-filled weeks in the feedlot into a time of gain and profit.

They come down the ramp tired, confused and stressed... and you have a load of trouble on your hands. That's why calves and yearlings need the extra help provided by Purina Receiving Chow, the most widely used complete feed made exclusively for new arrivals in the feedlot. When fed as recommended in the Purina cattle feeding program, Receiving Chow goes to work immediately to reduce mortality. What's more, it fights off morbidity—to give calves a chance to put on profitable gains right from the start.

New proof of performance from Sale Barn Tests

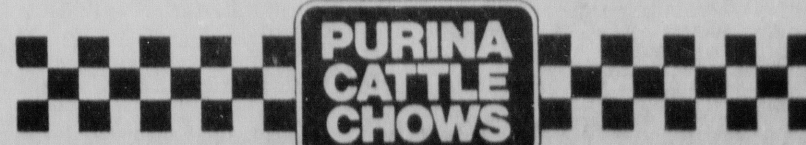

During recent months, Purina has conducted 62 Sale Barn Tests in major beef states to further demonstrate the value of Receiving Chow. 1,243 calves were used in these extensive experiments. Test calves were selected at random from sale consignments, then held and fed right at the auction where they were purchased. Three weeks later, the calves were resold through the same ring and their performance publicly announced.

The results should be of interest to every cattleman: Purina Sale Barn Test calves showed an average gain of over 40 pounds—in three critical weeks when gain of any kind is mighty hard to come by. Their feed efficiency, too, was impressive: costs were held to a level that permitted a substantial return on the feed investment. Mortality? A remarkably low .56 of one percent!

If calves thrown together in the sale barn can do this well, what could Receiving Chow do when used with your good management? Put this special combination of nutrition and medication to the test in your own feedlot. You'll see how much better feeder calves can do... when you feed away that early stress with Purina Receiving Chow.

The blender you got for Christmas may become your favorite kitchen appliance. But before you begin blending everything in sight, read the instruction book! You'll find out just what the blender can do. More important, you'll learn to use the appliance properly.

Blenders offer a range of speeds — and for a good reason. Different blending jobs require different speeds. Follow the instructions as you try each new blending job. Resist that impulse to blend everything on "high."

For example, the blender will grate carrots, coconut, cucumbers and other solids. Most instruction books will suggest using a medium speed for this job. If high speeds are used, the solids jump around on top of the blades and the job takes longer. At medium speeds, the solids agitate and are cut up quickly. Another tip-cut carrots and other hard foods into 1-inch pieces and add them through the lid insert while the blades are in motion.

When grating solids, work in small amounts — just a half cup at a time. The blades can't cut if they are covered with chopped or grated food. If you need a large quantity, do several small batches.

The blender will also make relishes and other thick mixtures. This job, too, calls for medium speed. As you work with thick mixtures, stop the blender from time to time and stir the food. The food is apt to become over-mixed on the bottom and not mixed enough on top.

A blender makes quick work of making mayonnaise — again at medium speed. High speeds cause air pockets to form which interfere with the blending action.

Medium speeds are suggested when you use the blender to make cracker and bread crumbs; chop and grind nuts, cheese, cream, whip cream, and chop dried fruits.

Your blender can also cover up some of those mistakes made in the kitchen such as lumpy gravy or white sauce. Just pour the sauce into the blender using a low speed and those lumps will disappear. Reheat and serve and no one will know the difference.

These are some other tasks a blender can perform:

Hillbilly Music

Continued success of hillbilly music — now generally referred to as country or country and western — gives non-hillbilly fans a distinct pain. Not only do they deem hillbilly music completely non-cultural but they regard the magnitude of its following a flippant contradiction of America's aspirations to status in the cultural realm.

It is hard to ignore the fact that millions of hillbilly records are sold each year in the United States. Perhaps in several hundred years, if hillbilly music loses its widespread popular appeal, it may become the basis for some cultural cult.

Jazz, despised and derided as uncultural in its early days, is now accepted in polite society. Quite a cult has grown up around mountain ballads.

In England, there is considerable interest in elite circles in the folk songs of past centuries — songs at which the culturally informed undoubtedly looked down their noses as being too uncouth and common at the time.

Is it possible that one of the things culturally wrong with hillbilly music is its popularity? When popular interest dwindles, perhaps it will become "clever," a part of American folk heritage, and therefore acceptable in better circles.

Future generations will not find it necessary to hunt and scratch for evidence of this phase of America's musical history. There should be enough records to last for hundreds of years.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Jan. 13, the 13th day of 1973. There are 352 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1733, James Oglethorpe and some 130 English colonists arrived at Charleston, S.C., with a charter to settle in what is now the State of Georgia.

On this date: In 1419, English forces captured the French city of Rouen.

In 1813, in the War of 1812, the British blockaded Chesapeake and Delaware bays.

In 1848, Vancouver Island in Canada was acquired by the Hudson's Bay Company.

In 1915, 30,000 persons were killed in an earthquake in central Italy.

In 1953, the Stalin government accused nine doctors of plotting to kill Soviet leaders. It later was conceded that the charge was false.

Ten years ago: In the West African country of Togo, President Sylvanus Olympio was murdered as insurgents took control.

Five years ago: U.S. air strikes in the Vietnam war concentrated on Laos to try to halt Communist supplies being moved along the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

One year ago: A group of junior army officers overthrew the civilian government of Ghana in West Africa.

Today's birthdays: Former chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Earle Wheeler is 65. Labor mediator William Simkin is 66.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Mammography is a highly refined technique that uses X-rays to recognize cancerous and non-cancerous tumors of the breast. It is an established fact that the early recognition of cancer of the breast saves the lives of thousands of victims of this dread condition.

Dr. Phillip Strax, of New York City, is internationally recognized as one of the great investigators and interpreters of the X-ray mammography method. As medical director of the Guttman Breast Diagnostic Institute, he has screened more than 50,000 women in an effort to uncover and detect the earliest possible evidence of cancer of the breast.

The technique of mammography now universally used to discover pre-symptomatic cancer is indeed one of the great scientific contributions of the past decade.

Dr. Strax is one of the pioneers in establishing educational campaigns to bring women to their doctors for regular clinical examination and mammography. The recovery rates are spectacular when cancerous tumors of the breast are recognized early and aggressively treated.

The complex disease of multiple sclerosis is slowly yielding to the pressure of incessant research. The tiny bits of scientific evidence being accumulated all point to the possibility that the jigsaw puzzle may yet be put together.

Dr. Hilary Koprowski of the Wistar Institute in Philadelphia believes that a new virus may play an active role in the cause and progress of M.S. His important studies were presented at a meeting sponsored by The National Multiple Sclerosis Society, a vital force in this research.

When a heart attack occurs it is usually because an insufficient amount of blood and oxygen is carried to the heart muscle itself.

"Infarct" is the technical term for that part of the heart muscle that is weakened, and even partly destroyed, by the deprivation of oxygen.

It is most important to learn as quickly as possible, the size of the infarct, the area of the heart muscle which has been damaged.

It is now possible to obtain a report, within minutes of a heart attack, of the extent of the damage to the heart, and its exact location.

Dr. Paul V. Harper and his associates at the Argonne Cancer Research Hospital in Chicago have devised a technique employing a radioactive substance — nitrogen-13 ammonia — to outline the area of the damaged heart.

The chemical, an excellent by-product of this atomic age, circulates through the heart muscle and is shown immediately on an X-ray picture. Such knowledge is a valuable factor in the immediate and intensive treatment so essential to saving the lives of heart-attack patients.

Only six hospitals in the United States at present have access to the cyclotrons which make this new concept feasible. It is hoped that this method can be simplified and eventually used in hospitals everywhere.

Senate Uses Confirmation Hearings To Assert Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats, out to convince President Nixon they mean business about reasserting the constitutional rights of Congress, have told presidential appointees they face rejection unless they pledge to return for testimony when called.

Even before the resolution was enacted unanimously Thursday, Finance Committee Democrats obtained such a pledge from Caspar W. Weinberger, named as the next secretary of health, education and welfare.

"It will be my very highest priority to respond to every request where I can do so," he told the panel.

Under the resolution, Defense Secretary-designate Elliot L. Richardson faces a delay in confirmation because of congressional dissatisfaction over the administration's explanation of the decision to renew bombing of North Vietnam's industrial heartland last December.

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said he will definitely ask for a delay, "hopeful until the country gets an explanation." Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he would permit a delay "for a reasonable length of time."

Meanwhile, it appears other Nixon nominations may face possible delays from the Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee has not scheduled hearings on a number of diplomatic nominations, including the selection of former newsman John Scali as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

The administration has requested quick action, but Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has been out of town.

The threat to stall on presidential nominations comes after a series of events which have angered many congressmen and senators, including some who generally support the administration.

These include the refusal of Secretary of State William P. Rogers and presidential aide Henry Kissinger to explain the Vietnam situation to the Foreign Relations Committee, and the impounding of billions of dollars of appropriated funds for domestic projects.

Mansfield said after Thursday's caucus that he hopes the resolution, though not binding, would indicate "our feelings and our intentions."

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., said he favors even stronger action. He said if the administration continues to impound appropriated funds without adequate explanation, Congress should refuse to receive its budget requests "until the Cabinet officials of this administration come up on the Hill and give us an accounting of why they have completely ignored the will of Congress."

Coroner Rules Police Scuffle Death Homicide

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The Scioto County coroner returned a ruling of homicide Thursday in the death of Richard Taylor, 30, of Portsmouth, during a barroom scuffle with three policemen.

A county grand jury now must decide whether to return a murder indictment against police officer Carl Loper, who allegedly fired the fatal shot.

Loper claimed he was being choked and was about to black out when he shot Taylor Monday.

But Coroner James Scott said in his ruling that three policemen should have been able to handle the situation without use of deadly force.

Cincy Receives $1 Million Gift

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Last November when city council asked the Cincinnati Association to raise $1 million to purchase ground on the Ohio Riverfront for a park, they went to Charles Sawyer.

Charles Acomb, of the association, asked Sawyer to head a fund-raising group.

Acomb said Sawyer replied he didn't need a committee, he'd donate the money himself.

The donation was announced Thursday by Sawyer, a lawyer who served the Truman Administration as U.S. Secretary of Commerce.

NEW YORK (AP) — Like thousands of others, you might dream of kicking the 9-to-5 work habit by buying a small motel and settling down to a quiet, comfortable semiretirement. Beware.

Rather than act on the dream, says Stephen Brenner, you should have the facts. And when you have them, he adds, you might no longer have the dream. If you still charge ahead you might find your dream is a nightmare.

The big mistake made by the uninitiated, says Brenner, who heads the hospitality division of the big Helmsley-Spear real estate empire, is to confuse real estate and retailing.

"A motel is not just real estate; it is a retail operation, like a shoe store," he says. Real estate, such as an apartment house, appreciates in value, he observes, while motels depreciate every year. They require constant renovation.

The apartment house tenant might stay 10 years and never meet the owner. The motel is intensely people-oriented. Customers must be catered to. The product must be merchandised.

Brenner maintains that any motel owner must always fight obsolescence on two fronts: physical and economic. The unrenovated plant might last 20 or 25 years before becoming totally unattractive, but economic aging might be immediate.

The latter can occur when an airport is shut down or a highway bypass is built. Such an eventuality could force the owner to abandon his business or sell it off for the value of the land alone.

As a manager-consultant-investor in motels throughout the country, Brenner has learned first hand how difficult it is to convert a motel to other uses. Like a bowling alley, it is a specialty building.

The owners options are to turn the facility into housing for singles, an addict or health care center, senior citizens housing, a dormitory or training center, or maybe a nursing home if the law allows.

But even without disaster befalling the owner in the form of economic obsolescence, there remains the constant fight to keep the facility modern and attractive. Costly indoor pools are "in" now. Cable television is coming.

Labor costs are always factors in profitability because, like all service industries, motels are labor-intensive. Service industries do not lend themselves to automation, motels and hotels least of all.

"Why is it you always forget some of your tools, but you never forget to send your bill?"

"Yeah, I'm a real old-timer, Sam. I can remember way back when I was a young and plumbers made about a dollar an hour, and most of them had calluses all over their hands."

Predict More Irish Violence

BELFAST (AP) — Brian Faulkner, the former prime minister of Northern Ireland, said Thursday night those who expect reunification of Ireland soon are daydreamers who "must shake themselves awake once and for all."

Faulkner said his Unionist party, the Protestant party that ruled Northern Ireland until last year, "would not be able to help the British government" establish the new legislative assembly that is expected to give greater representation to the Roman Catholic minority.

A Page Of Opinion

Hillbilly Music

Continued success of hillbilly music — now generally referred to as county or country and western — gives non-hillbilly fans a distinct pain. Not only do they deem hillbilly music completely non-cultural but they regard the magnitude of its following a flippant contradiction of America's aspirations to status in the cultural realm.

It is hard to ignore the fact that millions of hillbilly records are sold each year in the United States. Perhaps in several hundred years, if hillbilly music loses its widespread popular appeal, it may become the basis for some cultural cult.

Jazz, despised and derided as uncultural in its early days, is now accepted in polite society. Quite a cult has grown up around mountain ballads.

In England, there is considerable interest in elite circles in the folk songs of past centuries — songs at which the culturally informed undoubtedly looked down their noses as being too uncouth and common at the time.

Is it possible that one of the things culturally wrong with hillbilly music is its popularity? When popular interest dwindles, perhaps it will become "clever," a part of American folk heritage, and therefore acceptable in better circles.

Future generations will not find it necessary to hunt and scratch for evidence of this phase of America's musical history. There should be enough records to last for hundreds of years.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Jan. 13, the 13th day of 1973. There are 352 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1733, James Oglethorpe and some 130 English colonists arrived at Charleston, S.C., with a charter to settle in what is now the State of Georgia.

On this date:

In 1419, English forces captured the French city of Rouen.

In 1813, in the War of 1812, the British blockaded Chesapeake and Delaware bays.

In 1848, Vancouver Island in Canada was acquired by the Hudson's Bay Company.

In 1915, 30,000 persons were killed in an earthquake in central Italy.

In 1953, the Stalin government accused nine doctors of plotting to kill Soviet leaders. It later was conceded that the charge was false.

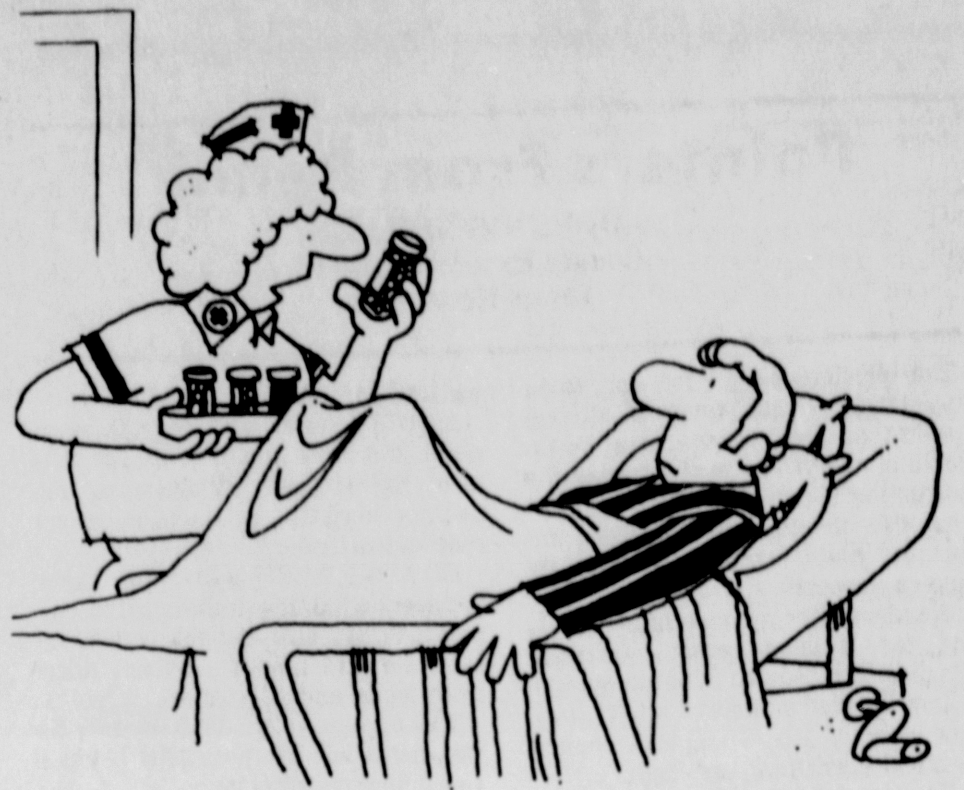

Ten years ago: In the West African country of Togo, President Sylvanus Olympio was murdered as insurgents took control.

Five years ago: U.S. air strikes in the Vietnam war concentrated on Laos to try to halt Communist supplies being moved along the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

One year ago: A group of junior army officers overthrew the civilian government of Ghana in West Africa.

Today's birthdays: Former chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Earle Wheeler is 65. Labor mediator William Simkin is 66.

Thought for today: A soft answer turneth away wrath — the Proverbs.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Mammography is a highly refined technique that uses X-rays to recognize cancerous and non-cancerous tumors of the breast. It is an established fact that the early recognition of cancer of the breast saves the lives of thousands of victims of this dread condition.

Dr. Phillip Strax, of New York City, is internationally recognized as one of the great investigators and interpreters of the X-ray mammography method. As medical director of the Guttman Breast Diagnostic Institute, he has screened more than 50,000 women in an effort to uncover and detect the earliest possible evidence of cancer of the breast.

The technique of mammography now universally used to discover pre-symptomatic cancer is indeed one of the great scientific contributions of the past decade.

Dr. Strax is one of the pioneers in establishing educational campaigns to bring women to their doctors for regular clinical examination and mammography. The recovery rates are spectacular when cancerous tumors of the breast are recognized early and aggressively treated.

The complex disease of multiple sclerosis is slowly yielding to the pressure of incessant research. The tiny bits of scientific evidence being accumulated all point to the possibility that the jigsaw puzzle may yet be put together.

Dr. Hilary Koprowski of the Wistar Institute in Philadelphia believes that a new virus may play an active role in the cause and progress of M.S. His important studies were presented at a meeting sponsored by The National Multiple Sclerosis Society, a vital force in this research.

When a heart attack occurs it is usually because an insufficient amount of blood and oxygen is carried to the heart muscle itself.

"Infarct" is the technical term for that part of the heart muscle that is weakened, and even partly destroyed, by the deprivation of oxygen.

It is most important to learn as quickly as possible, the size of the infarct, the area of the heart muscle which has been damaged.

It is now possible to obtain a report, within minutes of a heart attack, of the extent of the damage to the heart, and its exact location.

Dr. Paul V. Harper and his associates at the Argonne Cancer Research Hospital in Chicago have devised a technique employing a radioactive substance — nitrogen-13 ammonia — to outline the area of the damaged heart.

The chemical, an excellent by-product of this atomic age, circulates through the heart muscle and is shown immediately on an X-ray picture. Such knowledge is a valuable factor in the immediate and intensive treatment so essential to saving the lives of heart-attack patients.

Only six hospitals in the United States at present have access to the cyclotrons which make this new concept feasible. It is hoped that this method can be simplified and eventually used in hospitals everywhere.

Senate Uses Confirmation Hearings To Assert Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats, out to convince President Nixon they mean business about reasserting the constitutional rights of Congress, have told presidential appointees they face rejection unless they pledge to return for testimony when called.

Even before the resolution was enacted unanimously Thursday, Finance Committee Democrats obtained such a pledge from Caspar W. Weinberger, named as the next secretary of health, education and welfare.

"It will be my very highest priority to respond to every request where I can do so," he told the panel.

Under the resolution, Defense Secretary-designate Elliot L. Richardson faces a delay in confirmation because of congressional dissatisfaction over the administration's explanation of the decision to renew bombing of North Vietnam's industrial heartland last December.

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said he will definitely ask for a delay, "hopeful until the country gets an explanation." Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he would permit a delay "for a reasonable length of time."

Meanwhile, it appears other Nixon nominations may face possible delays from the Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee has not scheduled hearings on a number of diplomatic nominations, including the selection of former newsman John Scali as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

The administration has requested quick action, but Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has been out of town.

The threat to stall on presidential nominations comes after a series of events which have angered many congressmen and senators, including some who generally support the administration.

State Employee Work Safety Worse; Corrections Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans who work for state or local governments are more likely each year to get sick or hurt on the job, while their counterparts in the private sector are enjoying steadily improving safety at work, an analysis of injury statistics reveals.

One reason could be that while private employers have been subject since 1970 to provisions of the Occupational Safety and Health Act, state and local governments are exempt.

"This could be one cause, since we do not have a good safety program for public employees," said state Personnel Director Paul Corey when asked whether the accident rate and lack of a safety program were related.

Since 1969, Ohio claims for Workmen's Compensation benefits in the total work force have declined from 383,929 to 331,777 last year. At the same time, public employee claims have risen from 22,978 to approximately 27,000 last year.

The government work force has been rising since 1969, which could account for the rise in claims, but that's not what figures for state workers, alone, indicate.

Five per cent of the state payroll applied for compensation benefits in 1969. Six per cent applied last year. In the private sector during the same period the number of claims declined relative to the total work force.

"Some of our departments do have fairly responsible in-house safety programs," Corey said. "But there's no real pressure on them to keep conditions safe."

"You know, there are 400,000-plus public employees in Ohio and that's a heck of a block of workers to be leaving exposed," he added. "If I had my way, there would be a safety officer in every department."

Corey and others tried in the last session of the legislature to get a state employee safety standards measure passed, but the bill died in committee.

This year the department is working with a study group created by Gov. John Gilligan to develop a statewide plan for state administration of the federal safety law. The plan will include a proposed safety program for the state, but the remaining 350,000 Ohio public employees would still have no protection.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

There's A Rub In The Business Scheme

DEAR ABBY: Last year my brother went into a new venture and he's doing a terrific business. It is a massage parlor. He has girls do the massaging, and the customers are all men. I think you get the idea.

Well, my brother asked my husband to manage the place. I was against it from the start. My brother takes in about $4,000 to $5,000 a month. My husband is a salesman, and if he clears $150 a week he is lucky.

My brother told my husband if he would manage the massage parlor he would pay him $1,000 a month, plus at the end of the year my husband could buy the business from him, and my brother would open another parlor.

My husband wants to accept. All that is holding him back is me. I don't want my husband in a business like this.

Do I have a right to come between him and the money? Also, my husband being around those willing young girls all day is something else to consider.

We have three children. Would they be proud of their dad in this kind of business?

Everybody says I am wrong. What do you say?

HOLDING TIGHT

DEAR HOLDING: I say you're right. (But don't rub it in.)

DEAR ABBY: Three weeks ago, Jimmy and I met on a blind date neither one of us wanted to go on, but we went to get our friends off our backs. I am 22 and Jimmy is 24.

We hit it off perfectly. He took me to dinner. We danced and laughed and joked and found we had a lot in common. When he brought me home neither one of us wanted to say good night, so I invited him in (I have my own apartment) and we talked until 5 a.m. He kissed me only once and that's the truth. I let him sleep on the couch and the next morning we went to church together as it was Sunday. This may sound crazy, but I'm telling it like it is.

Jimmy is so sweet and clean and wonderful. I've never felt this way about anybody in my life and neither has Jimmy. We've spent every possible moment together since we met and he's never laid a hand on me and neither has anybody else. (This took a lot of self-control as we are very much in love!) Jimmy wants to marry me as soon as possible, but, Abby, this all happened so fast, I can't believe it.

Our friends say Jimmy and I should live together first to find out if we are sexually compatible, but Abby, I have always wanted to save myself until after marriage. Jimmy says it's up to me. Should I or shouldn't I? Please be honest.

IN LOVE IN TAMPA

DEAR IN LOVE: Compatibility is based on loving, caring, sharing unselfishness, and mutual consideration and respect, and from your letter, I'd say you and Jimmy have it. Feeling as you do — for which you are to be commended — the guilt you would experience from premarital sex would damage your self-respect. Since you've waited this long, wait to catch that golden ring. God bless you.

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband and I met, he got a married woman pregnant and she had his child-a boy.

My husband and I have a daughter. How is our daughter related to that boy my husband fathered?

Would you recommend the offspring be told they have the same father? They go to the same school, and are now teen-agers, and there is a possibility of a budding romance.

All the relations know about this mess.

OMAHA MIXUP

DEAR OMAHA: They are half brother and sister, which is closer than the law allows for marriage. I wouldn't tell them they have the same father unless I felt it were positively necessary. The "forbidden" aspect of such a romance might enhance it.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks a million for publishing the address of WAIF, the International Service office through which one may adopt a Vietnamese orphan.

I am a single serviceman who spent 18 months in Saigon and I adopted two boys from an orphanage there. One I brought back with me last January and the other came in March. (He was only 11 years old and flew 10,000 miles by himself.)

It's a lot easier to adopt them if you are over there, but it is possible to adopt them through WAIF. The only Vietnamese law about it is that you must be 20 years older than the child you adopt.

R. V. IN JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

DEAR R. V.: Thanks for giving me another opportunity to repeat the address. It's WAIF, 345 E. 46th St., New York.

Fear Disastrous Year For Fires

BOSTON (AP) — Multiple-death fires in the United States reached unprecedented levels in the first weekend of the new year, according to the National Fire Protection Association.

During the three-day period Jan. 5-7 there were 44 deaths in 13 fires taking two or more lives, the international fire safety organization reported today. Eighteen victims were children.

"This is a tragic start for 1973 in terms of fire deaths," said NFPA President Charles S. Morgan. "On an annual basis, multiple-death fires account for approximately 9 per cent of all life losses in fires. If this pace should continue, we will be in for a disastrous year."

Teller Studies Canal

BANGKOK (AP) — Dr. Edward Teller, the American scientist regarded as father of the hydrogen bomb, has arrived in Bangkok to discuss whether it would be possible to cut a canal across the Kra isthmus in southern Thailand by means of nuclear excavation.

State Employee Work Safety Worse; Corrections Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans who work for state or local governments are more likely each year to get sick or hurt on the job, while their counterparts in the private sector are enjoying steadily improving safety at work, an analysis of injury statistics reveals.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

There's A Rub In The Business Scheme

DEAR ABBY: Last year my brother went into a new venture and he's doing a terrific business. It is a massage parlor. He has girls do the massaging, and the customers are all men. I think you get the idea.

Well, my brother asked my husband to manage the place. I was against it from the start. My brother takes in about $4,000 to $5,000 a month. My husband is a salesman, and if he clears $150 a week he is lucky.

My brother told my husband if he would manage the massage parlor he would pay him $1,000 a month, plus at the end of the year my husband could buy the business from him, and my brother would open another parlor.

My husband wants to accept. All that is holding him back is me. I don't want my husband in a business like this.

Do I have a right to come between him and the money? Also, my husband being around those willing young girls all day is something else to consider.

We have three children. Would they be proud of their dad in this kind of business?

Everybody says I am wrong. What do you say?

HOLDING TIGHT

DEAR HOLDING: I say you're right. (But don't rub it in.)

DEAR ABBY: Three weeks ago, Jimmy and I met on a blind date neither one of us wanted to go on, but we went to get our friends off our backs. I am 22 and Jimmy is 24.

We hit it off perfectly. He took me to dinner. We danced and laughed and joked and found we had a lot in common. When he brought me home neither one of us wanted to say good night, so I invited him in (I have my own apartment) and we talked until 5 a.m. He kissed me only once and that's the truth. I let him sleep on the couch and the next morning we went to church together as it was Sunday. This may sound crazy, but I'm telling it like it is.

Jimmy is so sweet and clean and wonderful. I've never felt this way about anybody in my life and neither has Jimmy. We've spent every possible moment together since we met and he's never laid a hand on me and neither has anybody else. (This took a lot of self-control as we are very much in love!) Jimmy wants to marry me as soon as possible, but, Abby, this all happened so fast, I can't believe it. Our friends say Jimmy and I should live together first to find out if we are sexually compatible, but Abby, I have always wanted to save myself until after marriage. Jimmy says it's up to me. Should I or shouldn't I? Please be honest.

IN LOVE IN TAMPA

DEAR IN LOVE: Compatibility is based on loving, caring, sharing unselfishness, and mutual consideration and respect, and from your letter, I'd say you and Jimmy have it. Feeling as you do — for which you are to be commended — the guilt you would experience from premarital sex would damage your self-respect. Since you've waited this long, wait to catch that golden ring. God bless you.

DEAR ABBY: Before my husband and I met, he got a married woman pregnant and she had his child-a boy. My husband and I have a daughter. How is our daughter related to that boy my husband fathered?

Would you recommend the offspring be told they have the same father? They go to the same school, and are now teen-agers, and there is a possibility of a budding romance.

All the relations know about this mess.

OMAHA MIXUP

DEAR OMAHA: They are half brother and sister, which is closer than the law allows for marriage. I wouldn't tell them they have the same father unless I felt it were positively necessary. The "forbidden" aspect of such a romance might enhance it.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks a million for publishing the address of WAIF, the International Service office through which one may adopt a Vietnamese orphan.

I am a single serviceman who spent 18 months in Saigon and I adopted two boys from an orphanage there. One I brought back with me last January and the other came in March. (He was only 11 years old and flew 10,000 miles by himself.)

It's a lot easier to adopt them if you are over there, but it is possible to adopt them through WAIF. The only Vietnamese law about it is that you must be 20 years older than the child you adopt.

R. V. IN JACKSONVILLE, FLA.
DEAR R. V.: Thanks for giving me another opportunity to repeat the address. It's WAIF, 345 E. 46th St., New York.

One reason could be that while private employers have been subject since 1970 to provisions of the Occupational Safety and Health Act, state and local governments are exempt.

"This could be one cause, since we do not have a good safety program for public employees," said state Personnel Director Paul Corey when asked whether the accident rate and lack of a safety program were related.

Since 1969, Ohio claims for Workmen's Compensation benefits in the total work force have declined from 383,929 to 331,777 last year. At the same time, public employee claims have risen from 22,978 to approximately 27,000 last year.

The government work force has been rising since 1969, which could account for the rise in claims, but that's not what figures for state workers, alone, indicate.

Five per cent of the state payroll applied for compensation benefits in 1969. Six per cent applied last year. In the private sector during the same period the number of claims declined relative to the total work force.

"Some of our departments do have fairly responsible in-house safety programs," Corey said. "But there's no real pressure on them to keep conditions safe."

"You know, there are 400,000-plus public employees in Ohio and that's a heck of a block of workers to be leaving exposed," he added. "If I had my way, there would be a safety officer in every department."

Corey and others tried in the last session of the legislature to get a state employee safety standards measure passed, but the bill died in committee.

This year the department is working with a study group created by Gov. John Gilligan to develop a statewide plan for state administration of the federal safety law. The plan will include a proposed safety program for the state, but the remaining 350,000 Ohio public employees would still have no protection.

News Of Interest To Women

6 The Circleville Herald, Saturday January 13, 1973

Miss Sharane Louise Elliott Weds Joseph Edward Nielson

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH E. NIELSON

Miss Sharane Louise Elliott and Mr. Joseph Edward Nielson exchanged marriage vows 2 p.m. Dec. 23rd in the Reorganized Church of Christ of Latter-day Saints in Bay City, Mich.

Pastor Donald Nielson, brother of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony before the altar, decorated by members of the bridegroom's family, with Christmas greens.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Elliott, 227 N. Court St., Circleville and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mrs. Anna S. Nielson.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. As she approached the altar the organist played the traditional "Wedding March." The bride was attired for her wedding in a black velvet overblouse with scoop neckline and puffed sleeves over a matching flared mini skirt. Her corsage was of white rosebuds centered with six red rosebuds for interest.

Mrs. James Gray, sister of the groom, was matron of honor in a navy blue and white diamond checked jumper over a sheer long sleeved nylon blouse.

Mr. James Gray performed the duties of best man for his brother-in-law.

Mrs. Elliott was attired in a purple wool knit suit and wore a corsage of pink and white rosebuds.

Dinner was served the immediate family in the church reception hall following the ceremony. The table was decorated with Christmas greens encircling lighted red candles. The bride and groom's table was centered with a large Christmas arrangement with two burning candles. Hostesses were the groom's two sisters, Mrs. Gerry Neitzel and Mrs. James Gray, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Don Nielson.

The bride graduated from Bitburg, Germany, Air Force High School and attended the University of Delaware before returning to live with her parents in Luxembourg City.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Bend Junior College, Seattle, Wash. He is currently majoring in Business And Accounting at the University of Maryland Extension in Bitburg, Germany. He will continue his studies when his enlistment is completed in July.

The couple returned to Luxembourg City on Dec. 30th, where she is employed by the Wells Fargo Bank. The bridegroom returned to his duties as Sergeant in the U.S. Air Force in Spangdahlem, Germany. They will reside at 5 rue des Cimetieres, 2 Eglise, Bonnevoie, Luxembourg Ville, Grand Duché de Luxembourg, Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliot and their children, Douglas, Todd and Louise, traveled from Circleville to be present at the wedding. The bride and groom returned to Circleville with the bride's parents before leaving for Europe.

MRS. CHARLES JOLLIFFE

Order Of The Rose Conferred Upon Mrs. Charles Jolliffe

Xi Eta Epsilon Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi International Sorority recently met in the home of Mrs. Reber Bell, North Court Street for a regular meeting and to honor Mrs. Charles Jolliffe.

When members and guests arrived, all in formal attire, the entrance to the Bell home was spotlighted with the Christmas season decorations. The front room was decorated with a green Christmas tree and traditional decorations, and the family room in a color scheme of red and white in keeping with the holiday tradition.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Jolliffe, president. It was voted that the sorority would save register tapes from the Big Bear store and turn them in to Mrs. Jolliffe for a project.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Jerry Walters presented the program for the evening which was "Happiness In The New Year." Mrs. Bell read a poem, "The Queenly Quest." Members adjourned to the dining room and prepared for the surprise honor for Mrs. Jolliffe.

Mrs. Jolliffe was escorted into the dining room by Mrs. Charles Curlett and the sorority's highest degree attainable by a member, the Order of the Rose was conferred upon her.

The dining room was decorated in yellow and gold with the theme of "The Queenly Quest." Mrs. Jolliffe stood under an arch, covered with gold net and yellow roses during the ceremony. The candlelight service was conducted with Mrs. Curlett as moderator and assisted by the other members of the chapter.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Mrs. Jolliffe was presented with a yellow rosebud, the sorority flower, by Mrs. Bell. Mrs. Curlett presented the Order of the Rose pin, a gift from the chapter, and a certificate signed by the president of the International Organization. She was also presented with a cake decorated with the Queenly Quest theme.

The Order of the Rose is conferred upon an active member who has 15 years membership and service to the sorority. Two other members, Mrs. Howard Snook and Mrs. Curlett have been honored previously by the chapter. Mrs. Bell has received the honor by her home chapter in Ft. Myers, Florida.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a gold and white cloth, centered with a gold and white coach, with miniature coaches on either side and flanked by two silver candelabra and white candles. The table was set with crystal and silver. Mrs. John Kelchner presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Curlett at the coffee service. Mrs. Bell served open-face sandwiches and cake with a yellow rosebud in the center, mints and nuts. The dining room was completely illuminated by candlelight. Miniature crowns, made by Mrs. Bell, were given as favors. Miss Sharane Louise Elliott

Weds Joseph Edward Nielson

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH E. NIELSON

Miss Sharane Louise Elliott and Mr. Joseph Edward Nielson exchanged marriage vows 2 p.m. Dec. 23rd in the Reorganized Church of Christ of Latter-day Saints in Bay City, Mich.

Pastor Donald Nielson, brother of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony before the altar, decorated by members of the bridegroom's family, with Christmas greens.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Elliott, 227 N. Court St., Circleville and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mrs. Anna S. Nielson.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. As she approached the altar the organist played the traditional "Wedding March." The bride was attired for her wedding in a black velvet overblouse with scoop neckline and puffed sleeves over a matching flared mini skirt. Her corsage was of white rosebuds centered with six red rosebuds for interest.

Mrs. James Gray, sister of the groom, was matron of honor in a navy blue and white diamond checked jumper over a sheer long sleeved nylon blouse.

Mr. James Gray performed the duties of best man for his brother-in-law.

Mrs. Elliott was attired in a purple wool knit suit and wore a corsage of pink and white rosebuds.

Dinner was served the immediate family in the church reception hall following the ceremony. The table was decorated with Christmas greens encircling lighted red candles. The bride and groom's table was centered with a large Christmas arrangement with two burning candles. Hostesses were the groom's two sisters, Mrs. Gerry Neitzel and Mrs. James Gray, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Don Nielson.

The bride graduated from Bitburg, Germany, Air Force High School and attended the University of Delaware before returning to live with her parents in Luxembourg City.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Bend Junior College, Seattle, Wash. He is currently majoring in Business And Accounting at the University of Maryland Extension in Bitburg, Germany. He will continue his studies when his enlistment is completed in July.

The couple returned to Luxembourg City on Dec. 30th, where she is employed by the Wells Fargo Bank. The bridegroom returned to his duties as Sergeant in the U.S. Air Force in Spangdahlem, Germany. They will reside at 5 rue des Cimetières, 2Egare, Bonnevoie, Luxembourg Ville, Grand Duché de Luxembourg, Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliot and their children, Douglas, Todd and Louise, traveled from Circleville to be present at the wedding. The bride and groom returned to Circleville with the bride's parents before leaving for Europe.

MRS. CHARLES JOLLIFFE

Order Of The Rose Conferred Upon Mrs. Charles Jolliffe

Xi Eta Epsilon Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi International Sorority recently met in the home of Mrs. Reber Bell, North Court Street for a regular meeting and to honor Mrs. Charles Jolliffe.

When members and guests arrived, all in formal attire, the entrance to the Bell home was spotlighted with the Christmas season decorations. The front room was decorated with a green Christmas tree and traditional decorations, and the family room in a color scheme of red and white in keeping with the holiday tradition.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Jolliffe, president. It was voted that the sorority would save register tapes from the Big Bear store and turn them in to Mrs. Jolliffe for a project.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Jerry Walters presented the program for the evening which was "Happiness In The New Year." Mrs. Bell read a poem, "The Queenly Quest." Members adjourned to the dining room and prepared for the surprise honor for Mrs. Jolliffe.

Mrs. Jolliffe was escorted into the dining room by Mrs. Charles Curlett and the sorority's highest degree attainable by a member, the Order of the Rose was conferred upon her.

The dining room was decorated in yellow and gold with the theme of "The Queenly Quest." Mrs. Jolliffe stood under an arch, covered with gold net and yellow roses during the ceremony. The candlelight service was conducted with Mrs. Curlett as moderator and assisted by the other members of the chapter.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Mrs. Jolliffe was presented with a yellow rosebud, the sorority flower, by Mrs. Bell. Mrs. Curlett presented the Order of the Rose pin, a gift from the chapter, and a certificate signed by the president of the International Organization. She was also presented with a cake decorated with the Queenly Quest theme.

The Order of the Rose is conferred upon an active member who has 15 years membership and service to the sorority. Two other members, Mrs. Howard Snook and Mrs. Curlett have been honored previously by the chapter. Mrs. Bell has received the honor by her home chapter in Ft. Myers, Florida.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a gold and white cloth, centered with a gold and white coach, with miniature coaches on either side and flanked by two silver candelabra and white candles. The table was set with crystal and silver. Mrs. John Kelchner presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Curlett at the coffee service. Mrs. Bell served open-face sandwiches and cake with a yellow rosebud in the center, mints and nuts. The dining room was completely illuminated by candlelight. Miniature crowns, made by Mrs. Bell, were given as favors. Refreshments were served to the honored guest and her husband, whose presence was a complete surprise to her; Mrs. Edward Bohenko, Mrs. Norma Feldman, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. Snook, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Robert Wilkinson, Mrs. Howard Judd, Mrs. Phillip Leahy, Mrs. Brent Rhodes, Mrs. David Sealock, Reber Bell, Mrs. Kelchner, Mrs. Curlett and the hostess.

The next social meeting will be 7 p.m., Jan. 16th, at Tink's and will be a dinner party. Mrs. Rhodes is in charge of the entertainment.

The next business meeting will be held Feb. 6th with Mrs. Bell in charge of the program and Mrs. Wilkinson as hostess.

Kissinger Lied, Says McGovern

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he thinks presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger lied when he told the nation on Oct. 26 that "peace is at hand" in Vietnam, the Boston Globe reported Friday.

The newspaper said the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee made the assertion Thursday at a luncheon with Globe editors. McGovern was in Boston with his wife to accompany their daughter, Mary, to an interview at Radcliffe College, where she has applied for admission next fall.

Earlier Thursday McGovern met with some 300 campaign workers at a downtown hotel and drew cheers when he told them, "Needless to say, Massachusetts is first in my heart." McGovern carried only Massachusetts and the District of Columbia in the November election.

McGovern told the Globe editors that Kissinger's "peace is at hand" was a final factor in his defeat 12 days later. "Of course I don't know," he said, "but I can only tell you that when Kissinger told the country on Oct. 26 that peace was at hand and only a few small details remained, I think he was lying."

and Bruce and Mrs. Dwight Reid and daughter Janet of Madison Mills were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Long and daughter Florence.

Chemical War Pact Years Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — A treaty banning the production, stockpiling and use of chemical weapons is at least two years away, U.S. officials say.

Chemical weaponry is expected to dominate the 25-nation Geneva disarmament conference reopening Feb. 20, much as the problem of biological weapons did the last session.

But the outcome won't be the same, according to the American sources. The Geneva group, formally called the Committee of the Conference on Disarmament, put together an agreement last year prohibiting biological weapons.

The Soviet Union has proposed a chemical draft treaty that generally follows the line set out by the biological accord, an approach vehemently opposed by the United States.

The American experts said biological warfare has never been considered as serious a threat as the use of chemicals, and the United States, therefore, was not as concerned about verification.

However, the Washington position on checking to see whether a chemical-warfare treaty is being honored is much tougher.

Sophisticated chemical weapons already exist in large numbers and in enormous variety. No matter how the treaty is finally defined, the U.S. officials say, there will be a need for stringent verification procedures.

Opium Traffic

Said Still Bad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drug traffic in Indochina cannot be stopped until illicit guns-for-opium trade is stopped in Burma and stronger antinarcotics measures are taken in neighboring countries, according to a House staff report.

The report, prepared by two House Foreign Affairs Committee staff members, cites information that Royal Lao Air Force pilots are flying narcotics throughout Indochina and that high Laotian officials are involved in drug traffic.

It says closing down traditional opium routes appears to have led to development of new ones.

Tuskegee Pay Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill has been introduced in the Senate to compensate the survivors and families of the men who died during a federal study of untreated syphilis.

Last year at the opening of the Geneva conference, U.S. negotiator Joseph Martin Jr. said his delegation was committed to achieving a chemical treaty, but only after consideration of several preliminary problems.

The list he offered is the same the United States will put forward this year:

—Should the negotiations deal with specific chemicals?

—Should prohibited agents be defined in terms of the degree of toxicity, or in terms of families of agents?

—In what ways could a treaty limit or ban production of lethal chemical agents?

—Should a treaty deal with training, means of delivery and defense systems?

It won't be until the scope of the complex treaty is thus decided that the United States will be ready to go into the verification problem. It is in that delicate area that major political decisions will have to be made by either the United States or the Soviet Union.

In previous negotiations, particularly involving a total nuclear test ban, Washington has insisted on some form of international, on-site inspection. But Russia has refused as a matter of policy to allow foreigners onto its soil to verify any international agreement.

Chemical War Pact Years Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — A treaty banning the production, stockpiling and use of chemical weapons is at least two years away, U.S. officials say.

Chemical weaponry is expected to dominate the 25-nation Geneva disarmament conference reopening Feb. 20, much as the problem of biological weapons did the last session.

But the outcome won't be the same, according to the American sources. The Geneva group, formally called the Committee of the Conference on Disarmament, put together an agreement last year prohibiting biological weapons.

The Soviet Union has proposed a chemical draft treaty that generally follows the line set out by the biological accord, an approach vehemently opposed by the United States.

The American experts said biological warfare has never been considered as serious a threat as the use of chemicals, and the United States, therefore, was not as concerned about verification.

However, the Washington position on checking to see whether a chemical-warfare treaty is being honored is much tougher.

Sophisticated chemical weapons already exist in large numbers and in enormous variety. No matter how the treaty is finally defined, the U.S. officials say, there will be a need for stringent verification procedures.

Opium Traffic

Said Still Bad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drug traffic in Indochina cannot be stopped until illicit guns-for-opium trade is stopped in Burma and stronger antinarcotics measures are taken in neighboring countries, according to a House staff report.

The report, prepared by two House Foreign Affairs Committee staff members, cites information that Royal Lao Air Force pilots are flying narcotics throughout Indochina and that high Laotian officials are involved in drug traffic.

It says closing down traditional opium routes appears to have led to development of new ones.

Tuskegee Pay Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill has been introduced in the Senate to compensate the survivors and families of the men who died during a federal study of untreated syphilis.

—Should a treaty deal with training, means of delivery and defense systems?

It won't be until the scope of the complex treaty is thus decided that the United States will be ready to go into the verification problem. It is in that delicate area that major political decisions will have to be made by either the United States or the Soviet Union.

In previous negotiations, particularly involving a total nuclear test ban, Washington has insisted on some form of international, on-site inspection. But Russia has refused as a matter of policy to allow foreigners onto its soil to verify any international agreement.

Sales Tax Collections Are Down

Sales tax collections for the month of December were down 2.45 per cent from collections a year ago, but motor vehicle tax receipts were up 43.56 per cent according to a report from Gertrude Donahey, treasurer of the state of Ohio.

Sales tax collections for the month were $108,640.71 compared to $111,404.69 a year ago. The total for the first half of the current fiscal year is $452,826.50 compared to $404,407.46 a year ago.

Motor vehicle tax receipts for December were $52,118.43 this year and $36,302.68 last year. Collections for the fiscal year to date are $344,995.84 compared to $314,450.35 a year ago.

Kissinger Lied, Says McGovern

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he thinks presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger lied when he told the nation on Oct. 26 that "peace is at hand" in Vietnam, the Boston Globe reported Friday.

The newspaper said the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee made the assertion Thursday at a luncheon with Globe editors. McGovern was in Boston with his wife to accompany their daughter, Mary, to an interview at Radcliffe College, where she has applied for admission next fall.

Earlier Thursday McGovern met with some 300 campaign workers at a downtown hotel and drew cheers when he told them, "Needless to say, Massachusetts is first in my heart." McGovern carried only Massachusetts and the District of Columbia in the November election.

McGovern told the Globe editors that Kissinger's "peace is at hand" was a final factor in his defeat 12 days later.

"Of course I don't know," he said, "but I can only tell you that when Kissinger told the country on Oct. 26 that peace was at hand and only a few small details remained, I think he was lying."

Greg Bigam, one of Westfall's better athletes who is now a junior at Capital University, Columbus, is on a tour of Russia with approximately twenty-eight Capital classmates. Our "kids" can be found every place these days—no longer a great big wide world.

Scuttlebutt has it that Ray and Jean Valone will soon embark for a mixture of business and pleasure European trip. Ray is the V of V & Y Construction that you see on many pieces of bright yellow equipment.

Popular and considerably well liked school bus driver Helen (Mrs. Paul) Whitesed was to undergo surgery for a ganglion on her left hand this week and will be absent from her bus route for three weeks.

Sunday was really a good day—first of all at church I had the opportunity to talk with John Steinhauer who related that he and Minnie had spent Christmas with his mom, Mrs. Harry (Emma) Puffinbarger and good old Harry at their Haines City winter dwelling.

Flying down with the Steinhausers was Kate (Mrs. Bernard) Steinhauer of near Clarksburg. Our travelers did all the tourist type things while in the sunny climes. Disneyland was big on their list. They also spent time with John's brother Marion and his Gretchen who reside at Winter Haven. At Kissimmee they were with good friends the Vernon Powers who have a home in Canada, too. It was on to Fort Lauderdale and time with sister Peg Steinhauer Fulton and a dip of the "tootsies" in the Atlantic Ocean.

Arriving back home in time for the New Year they celebrated by having their adored grandson John Carl and his parents Jeff and Jill Garmire of Athens, Johnda Steinhauer of Otterbein, Marlie Griffin of Otterbein (and Springfield) and Miss Lucille Bevan of Bexley with them for the day. Jonda, who just completed her student teaching, was on the Dean's list the last time around. Congrats to her!

Sunday evening it was our decided pleasure to have Ray and Ann Strawser of Grove City to stop by for a light supper and some chatting time. The Strawses are long time treasured friends who formerly resided in our town. They had spent some time with Ray's sister Millie and her sidekick Curtis Keller earlier in the afternoon.

Also visiting at the Keller home was mother Mrs. Roy Strawser of Rt. 4, Circleville.

Dear Mrs. Elizabeth Ebenhack sends us a note from Chillicothe Hospital where she has been confined for several weeks. She has been so terribly ill and her writing is rather shaky but I think she has now been discharged to the home of her daughter Mrs. Merton (Marlene) Garrison at Clarksburg.

Taking a mid-winter vacation in the balmy breezes and bright sunshine of Florida are Joe and Nellie Wright.

Should have told you sooner that Bob and Millie Tootle were among those who "took in" the festivities connected with the Rose Bowl tournament.

Coleen (Mrs. Max) Justice was the "hostess with the mostess" for Canasta Club last Tuesday evening. Would you believe that yours truly won high prize; traveling went to Sue Graffis; Pearl Cochenour played hard for low and going home with door prize was Mae Litter.

Giving a helping hand were Margene Looney, Patti Brayshaw (subbing for an ailing Esther Picklesimer), and Jackie Hopper who, with her beloved hubby Shorty, will leave soon to spend the remainder of the winter in Florida.

Wednesday morning four bright eyed and bushy tailed gals, Ruth Schleich, Sue Graffis, Esta Debo and Eileen Easterday, pointed the car in the direction of Dayton and off they went for lunch at the newly opened Totenko which specializes in Oriental cuisine served buffet style. This is just opposite the fabulous Dayton Mall shopping center so one guest should tell you where they spent the rest of the day after having lunch.

A really fun day even though all four were completely "poohed out" by the time home sweet home was reached. Shucks! one deep breath and they will all be ready to go again.

Jane (Mrs. Gene) Hinton entered Berger Hospital and underwent surgery Wednesday morning.

Little Miss Joy Lynne Drummond sparked the day for us Easterdays on Thursday when she stayed the day while her mama, Marabel Drummond, was quite ill at her home and no wonder after the traumatic experience of having their car stolen right out of the garage by escaped convicts.

On the good news side the Drummonds were informed late Thursday evening that their car had been recovered in Columbus; however, no information was forthcoming as to what condition the car was in other than it was in running order. David and Marabel expected to go to Columbus today (Friday) and get the car.

One of my New Year resolutions has gone up in smoke already. I vowed to get this column done earlier in the week and here I've been since Tuesday morning getting this one completed. Hope I have better luck with my other resolves.

Say, Mr. Spring, anytime I have the good fortune to be on the credit side of the ledger in comparison to Mary Alice Greenwood I most definitely consider it a compliment. That is one gal who measures A.O.K. on my tape.

Think About: It doesn't take the brains of an oyster to run down or ridicule people, places and situations by expounding on their bad or weak virtues. It does, however, take a measure of courage, intelligence and personal action to transform such things into something good and worthwhile. Stick with it boys and coaches. Some of us are with you all the way — win, lose or draw.

American Legion Auxiliary, sponsors of the Christmas decorating contest for the village, announce award winners who were judged in December.

Door decorations brought a first prize to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fry, the second place to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Long and third to Mr. and Mrs. William Rhinesmith.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcomb Grady took the top honors on window designs, keeping within the holiday theme. Kenny and Sheyl Horch won second and Lana Keller was given the third place award.

Winner in the religious theme category, Mrs. Geneva Eisnaugle, was the only entrant in that division. Judges from the Pickaway County Garden Club, Mrs. Frank Gans, Mrs. Theodore Huston and Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart, all of Circleville, then selected the decorations of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Looney as outstanding and presented honorable mention to the Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kneese home and the door design of Mrs. Ilo Stevenson.

The Legion auxiliary extends its thanks to all who participated and hopes to have the entire community take part in the 1973 contest.

Northern Ohio Oil Workers Threaten Strike

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Negotiators for the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers and Standard Oil of Ohio were to resume contract talks at 10 a.m. today, just six hours before a strike deadline at refineries in Lima, Toledo and Cleveland.

A union spokesman said some progress was made in discussions Friday, but several issues remained unresolved. Points of disagreement involved the pension plan, medical care and health and safety.

The previous contract expired Dec. 30. The union set the strike deadline at 4 p.m. today because of a lack of progress in negotiations.

The union represents about 400 workers here, 380 in Toledo and 75 in Cleveland.

Little Old Ladies Boo Bingo Raiders

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Covington, Ky. struck a blow for law and order Friday night and were roundly booed by 200 "little old ladies."

Police Chief Ralph Bosse ordered a raid on the American Legion Home Bingo game at an American Legion hall. He said there had been complaints.

Police closed down Bingo games earlier doing better than $500,000 annually after the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review a lower court decision throwing out Kentucky's charitable Bingo law.

Blaze Reported

HARRISBURG, Ohio (AP)— Four businesses and three apartments were destroyed Friday when a fire swept through a building in this Franklin County community.

The Rev. David Carter, whose parents own the building, put the loss at $150,000. The fire destroyed a pizza shop, dry cleaning business, barber shop and a restaurant, plus the apartments.

No one was injured in the blaze. Volunteer firemen from six communities battled the blaze in temperatures hovering around 10 degrees.

Carter, manager of the restaurant, said the fire apparently started in the basement near two fuel oil tanks.

Rent Thaw Hit
As Hurting Poor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus developer has criticized President Nixon's lifting of the rent rate freeze and says it will put the poor and moderate income citizens in a double bind.

George Deffet, of the Deffet Co., Thursday said the "rents in sub-standard housing will probably increase dramatically" as a result of the Phase III announcement made earlier Thursday.

The continued moratorium on construction of subsidized housing will increase the demand on present low rent housing, Deffet said. "With increased demand, the rents will skyrocket and the poor have no alternative but to pay," he added.

Final Briefs Set In Ohio Bell Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Final briefs were to be filed today in Ohio Bell Telephone Co.'s request for a $165 million annual rate increase.

Henry W. Eckhart, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, said the case will be taken under advisement. He did not say when the commission might have a final decision.

Circleville Defense Stops Greenfield, 75-49

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Circleville's tough defense spiked the offensive punch of Greenfield McClain and came up with a big 75-49 win in a key South Central Ohio League clash Friday night on the Red and Black court to maintain its share of the league lead.

The Roundtowners utilized a defense that was tighter than a miser on a spending spree as they limited a McClain offense that has been averaging 73.3 points a game to less than 50 in the contest.

It was a fine overall effort as the sticky Red and Black defense applied pressure to the Greenfield shooters and denied them the good shots. McClain managed to get 66 shots from the floor but only ripped the cords on 19 of them. Greenfield's Buddy Kennedy, the leading scorer in the SCOL with an average of 20.3 per game, was held to 13 points on a great defensive job by Circleville's Glen Gillespie.

"I have to give a great deal of credit for the victory to Jim Diltz and Darrel Young who did a fine job of scouting Greenfield for us," Circleville Coach John Lawhorn stated. "Our offense sputtered at times but our defense kept us in the game until we could get the attack moving again," Lawhorn commented.

Greg Hoskins hit from the corners and drove to the basket as he led the Tigers with 10 from the field and one from the charity stripe for a total of 21 points. Dave Truex added 15 tallies and set up baskets as he continually found the open man with his passes.

Dan Graham ripped the nets for 10 markers, Doug Radabaugh had eight, Kris Kline seven, Gillespie and Robin Martin netted six apiece and John Ankrom hooped two in the winning cause.

Kennedy led McClain with 13 tallies, Bob Trego had 10, Dan Strain seven, George Hamilton six, Larry Crabtree five while Dan Raika and Curtis Carman each added four.

Circleville connected on 34 of 78 shots from the floor for 43.6 per cent and converted seven of 14 from the free throw line. McClain hit on 11 of 16 free throws. Circleville pounded the boards with a fury as they pulled down 48 rebounds to Greenfield's 32. Hoskins grabbed 15 missed shots while Truex and Graham each pulled down 11.

The Red and Black committed 20 turnovers in the game while McClain misplayed the ball 23 times.

It was a nip and tuck affair in the first period with the teams trading buckets and the Red and Black held a narrow 13-11 lead at the buzzer.

Circleville jumped out to a 27-14 advantage in the second period as they hit the nets for seven buckets to counter three free throws by McClain with 3:26 left in the period. Truex drew his third foul and went to the bench, Greenfield hit three quick buckets and a pair of free throws to cut the gap to 27-22 with 2:37 left in the half.

But Hoskins hit from the corner and tallied a driving layup to offset buckets by Kennedy and Carman to give the Red and Black a 31-26 margin at halftime.

Circleville broke the game wide open in the third canto as Truex scorched the nets with four field goals, Graham hit twice from underneath, Radabaugh connected twice from the field and Hoskins added a bucket and a charity toss to counter four buckets by Greenfield and the Roundtowners led 50-34 with 2:45 left on the clock. The period came to an end with Circleville holding a 54-38 edge. Greenfield never came closer than 18 points in the frame and the Red and Black had another victory in the record book.

In other SCOL action Friday night Wilmington was upset at Hillsboro, 64-54, and Washington C. H. stopped Miami Trace, 57-52, on the Panther's floor. Circleville and Washington C.H. mw share the league lead with identical 4-1 records.

Circleville is now 9-1 on the season and will host Wilmington Friday night in a key SCOL clash.

SUMMARY

CIRLCEVILLE — Radabaugh, 4-0-8; Gillespie, 3-0-6; Martin, 2-2-6; G. Hoskins, 10-1-21; Truex, 6-3-15; Ankrom, 1-0-2; Kline, 3-1-7; Graham, 5-0-10. Totals, 34-7-75.

GREENFIELD — Hamilton, 3-0-6; Carman, 2-0-4; Trego, 3-4-10; Crabtree, 1-3-5; Raika, 2-0-4; Kennedy, 5-3-13; Strain, 3-1-7. Totals, 19-11-49.

PASSING LANE—Circleville's Glen Gillespie (12) moves into the lane and gets a pass off to Dan Graham (44) who is waiting under the bucket. Mike Anderson (41) of Greenfield loses his balance as he attempts to avoid the oncharging Tiger. Greg Hoskins (22) breaks toward the basket from the other side. The strong defense of the Red and Black gave Circleville a 75-49 win over the visitors.

Piketon Stops WHS 51-50; Mustang Rally Falls Short

By DAVE AMEY
Herald Staff Writer

The Westfall Mustangs outshot Piketon 23-19 from the floor but hit a dismal 4 of 14 foul shots as they dropped a tight 51-50 game to the Red Streaks Friday in the Mustang gym.

Westfall's percentage from the charity line was 28 per cent as compared to Piketon, who hit 13 of 27 free shots for 48 per cent. Westfall was called for 24 fouls while the Red Streaks fouled only 15 times.

The Mustangs started in an early hole, falling behind after the first period of play 16-12. But they fought back to take a slim lead early in the second period, only to fall behind at the half 30-26. The third period score was knotted 41-41.

The final period was close all the way, though Piketon kept command of the game getting points when they needed them. The game ended as a Joe Angles' corner shot fell threw the nets for the Mustangs.

Angles and Mike Peterson tied as game-high scorers with 15 points each. Angles canned 6 field goals and three free throws, while Peterson hit seven field goals and the other Mustang free throw.

Marc Easterday scored six for the Mustangs, Jay Clark hit six, Jim Pickelseimer had four points and Dave Shannon and Greg McKay added a basket each.

Dan Mowery paced Piketon's balanced attack with 14 points on five field goals and four free throws. Pat Pettay and Ralph Williamson scored 12 each, Roger Grace had 7 and Greg Shepherd scored 6.

The Mustangs dropped the reserve game, again by free throws, although the final score was not as close, 46-53.

The Mustangs hit 19 shots from the field and five of seven free throws. Piketon countered with 17 baskets and 12 of 22 free throws.

Westfall was behind after the first period of play 12-7. But the Mustangs fought back to take a 24-19 halftime lead and a 34-30 three quarter advantage before wilting under the Piketon blitz.

Coleman paced the Mustangs with 13 points. Mosely and Malone had 10 each. Mike Balestra was high for Piketon with 13 points.

Both Mustang teams invade Greenfield tonight for a non-league clash with the Tigers.

The Mustang varsity is 0-12 for the year. Their last regular season win was Jan. 28, 1972, when they topped Laurelville 82-72. They won their first sectional tournament tilt last year, Feb. 25, against St. Charles, but have not won since.

Amanda-Clearcreek Nips Bloom-Carroll, 63-61

Amanda Clearcreek rallied for a 63-61 come-from-behind victory against visiting Bloom-Carroll Friday night after the Aces were ahead by as much as 15 points in the second half.

The Aces took the first period 18-12 and increased their lead to 37-26 at the half. During the third period, the Aces built up a 15 point lead at one point and still held a 54-43 lead. But Bloom-Carroll fought back in the final period and actually took the lead with a minute and a half remaining before bowing to the Aces.

Amanda hit 25 of 49 floor shows for 51 per cent and canned 13 of 24 free throws for 54 per cent. Bloom-Carroll hit 27 of 65 from the floor for 42 per cent, but canned 7 of 9 free throws for 78 per cent.

Virgil Strickler was high for the Aces with 22 points. Rex Riddle scored 18 points, Bob Foster scored 16, Jeff Palmer added 4 and Greg Glendenning had 3.

Bloom-Carroll's prolific scorer John Coffman was held to just eight points by Riddle. McQuade paced Bloom-Carroll with 15 points and Ruble and Wald had 14 for the losers.

The win ups A-C's league record to 5-4 and 6-5 for the season. Bloom-Carroll dropped to 4-5 in the league.

Next game for Amanda-Clearcreek will be Friday when they host Millersport.

Fazio Accepts Post

As UC Assistant

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Serafino Fazio has resigned as fulltime athletic recruiter at the University of Pittsburgh to accept a post as assistant football coach at the University of Cincinnati.

Fazio announced his decision Friday, but stressed it was not connected with the takeover of Johnny Majors as Pitt's new football coach.

WHAT'S UP? — Westfall and Piketon basketball players appear to be spectators in a one-on-one drama between the Mustang's Dave Shannon and Piketon's Roger Grace. The Red Streaks won the game 51-50 after the Mustangs rallied to erase an early deficit. Other players identifiable in the picture from the left are Mustang Jay Clark, Piketon's Dan Mowery and Ralph Williamson, and Westfall's Mike Peterson.

Circleville Defense Stops Greenfield, 75-49

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Circleville's tough defense spiked the offensive punch of Greenfield McClain and came up with a big 75-49 win in a key South Central Ohio League clash Friday night on the Red and Black court to maintain its share of the league lead.

The Roundtowners utilized a defense that was tighter than a miser on a spending spree as they limited a McClain offense that has been averaging 73.3 points a game to less than 50 in the contest.

It was a fine overall effort as the sticky Red and Black defense applied pressure to the Greenfield shooters and denied them the good shots. McClain managed to get 66 shots from the floor but only ripped the cords on 19 of them. Greenfield's Buddy Kennedy, the leading scorer in the SCOL with an average of 20.3 per game, was held to 13 points on a great defensive job by Circleville's Glen Gillespie.

"I have to give a great deal of credit for the victory to Jim Diltz and Darrel Young who did a fine job of scouting Greenfield for us," Circleville Coach John Lawhorn stated. "Our offense sputtered at times but our defense kept us in the game until we could get the attack moving again," Lawhorn commented.

Greg Hoskins hit from the corners and drove to the basket as he led the Tigers with 10 from the field and one from the charity stripe for a total of 21 points. Dave Truex added 15 tallies and set up baskets as he continually found the open man with his passes.

Dan Graham ripped the nets for 10 markers, Doug Radabaugh had eight, Kris Kline seven, Gillespie and Robin Martin netted six apiece and John Ankrom hooped two in the winning cause.

Kennedy led McClain with 13 tallies, Bob Trego had 10, Dan Strain seven, George Hamilton six, Larry Crabtree five while Dan Raikes and Curtis Carman each added four.

Circleville connected on 34 of 78 shots from the floor for 43.6 per cent and converted seven of 14 from the free throw line. McClain hit on 11 of 16 free throws. Circleville pounded the boards with a fury as they pulled down 48 rebounds to Greenfield's 32. Hoskins grabbed 15 missed shots while Truex and Graham each pulled down 11.

The Red and Black committed 20 turnovers in the game while McClain misplayed the ball 23 times.

It was a nip and tuck affair in the first period with the teams trading buckets and the Red and Black held a narrow 13-11 lead at the buzzer.

Circleville jumped out to a 27-14 advantage in the second period as they hit the nets for seven buckets to counter three free throws by McClain with 3:26 left in the period. Truex drew his third foul and went to the bench. Greenfield hit three quick buckets and a pair of free throws to cut the gap to 27-22 with 2:37 left in the half.

But Hoskins hit from the corner and tallied a driving layup to offset buckets by Kennedy and Carman to give the Red and Black a 31-26 margin at halftime.

Circleville broke the game wide open in the third canto as Truex scorched the nets with four field goals, Graham hit twice from underneath, Radabaugh connected twice from the field and Hoskins added a bucket and a charity toss to counter four buckets by Greenfield and the Roundtowners led 50-34 with 2:45 left on the clock. The period came to an end with Circleville holding a 54-38 edge. Greenfield never came closer than 18 points in the frame and the Red and Black had another victory in the record book.

In other SCOL action Friday night Wilmington was upset at Hillsboro, 64-54, and Washington C. H. stopped Miami Trace, 57-52, on the Panther's floor. Circleville and Washington C.H. now share the league lead with identical 4-1 records.

Circleville is now 9-1 on the season and will host Wilmington Friday night in a key SCOL clash.

to avoid the oncharging Tiger. Greg Hoskins (22) breaks toward the basket from the other side. The strong defense of the Red and Black gave Circleville a 75-49 win over the visitors.

Piketon Stops WHS 51-50; Mustang Rally Falls Short

By DAVE AMEY
Herald Staff Writer

The Westfall Mustangs outshot Piketon 23-19 from the floor but hit a dismal 4 of 14 foul shots as they dropped a tight 51-50 game to the Red Streaks Friday in the Mustang gym.

Westfall's percentage from the charity line was 28 per cent as compared to Piketon, who hit 13 of 27 free shots for 48 per cent. Westfall was called for 24 fouls while the Red Streaks fouled only 15 times.

The Mustangs started in an early hole, falling behind after the first period of play 16-12. But they fought back to take a slim lead early in the second period, only to fall behind at the half 30-26. The third period score was knotted 41-41.

The final period was close all the way, though Piketon kept command of the game getting points when they needed them. The game ended as a Joe Angles' corner shot fell threw the nets for the Mustangs.

Angles and Mike Peterson tied as game-high scorers with 15 points each. Angles canned 6 field goals and three free throws, while Peterson hit seven field goals and the other Mustang free throw.

Marc Easterday scored six for the Mustangs, Jay Clark hit for six, Jim Pickelseimer had four points and Dave Shannon and Greg McKay added a basket each.

Dan Mowery paced Piketon's balanced attack with 14 points on five field goals and four free throws. Pat Pettay and Ralph Williamson scored 12 each, Roger Grace had 7 and Greg Shepherd scored 6.

The Mustangs dropped the reserve game, again by free throws, although the final score was not as close, 46-53. The Mustangs hit 19 shots from the field and five of seven free throws. Piketon countered with 17 baskets and 12 of 22 free throws.

Westfall was behind after the first period of play 12-7. But the Mustangs fought back to take a 24-19 halftime lead and a 34-30 three quarter advantage before wilting under the Piketon blitz.

Coleman paced the Mustangs with 13 points. Mosely and Malone had 10 each. Mike Balestra was high for Piketon with 13 points.

Both Mustang teams invade Greenfield tonight for a non-league clash with the Tigers.

The Mustang varsity is 0-12 for the year. Their last regular season win was Jan. 28, 1972, when they topped Laurelville 82-72. They won their first sectional tournament tilt last year, Feb. 25, against St. Charles, but have not won since.

Amanda-Clearcreek Nips Bloom-Carroll, 63-61

Amanda Clearcreek rallied for a 63-61 come-from-behind victory against visiting Bloom-Carroll Friday night after the Aces were ahead by as much as 15 points in the second half.

The Aces took the first period 18-12 and increased their lead to 37-26 at the half. During the third period, the Aces built up a 15 point lead at one point and still held a 54-43 lead. But Bloom-Carroll fought back in the final period and actually took the lead with a minute and a half remaining before bowing to the Aces.

Amanda hit 25 of 49 floor shows for 51 per cent and canned 13 of 24 free throws for 54 per cent. Bloom-Carroll hit 27 of 65 from the floor for 42 per cent, but canned 7 of 9 free throws for 78 per cent.

Virgil Strickler was high for the Aces with 22 points. Rex Riddle scored 18 points, Bob Foster scored 16, Jeff Palmer added 4 and Greg Glendenning had 3.

Bloom-Carroll's prolific scorer John Coffman was held to just eight points by Riddle. McQuade paced Bloom-Carroll with 15 points and Ruble and Wald had 14 for the losers.

The win ups A-C's league record to 5-4 and 6-5 for the season. Bloom-Carroll dropped to 4-5 in the league.

Next game for Amanda-Clearcreek will be Friday when they host Millersport.

Reserves Rip Cats

The reserve cagers of Circleville through tough defensive play beat the Tigers of Greenfield 46-33 on the high school floor Friday night.

The CHS Tigers lead all the way from start to finish. At the end of the first quarter they were up by nine points with a score of 17-8. At the half CHS still lead, 25-16. When the third quarter ended it was the Tigers 35-23. As the last buzzer sounded the Cats of Circleville held a 13 point lead.

Perry Hoskins lead both teams with 12 points and Harold Reed had 11 for the Red and Black. Tim McNaughton and Phil roll both had nine while Dave Bevan had 3 and Frank Plescia tallied 2. The leading scorer for McClain, Bill Flynn, had 9 marks.

The Tigers now have a 7-3 season mark and will host Wilmington next Friday.

Fazio Accepts Post

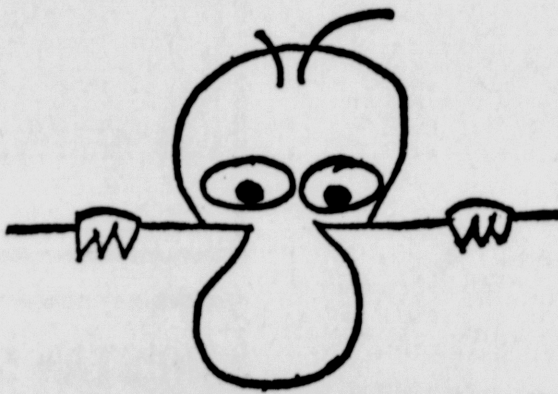

As UC Assistant

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Serafino Fazio has resigned as fulltime athletic recruiter at the University of Pittsburgh to accept a post as assistant football coach at the University of Cincinnati.

Fazio announced his decision Friday, but stressed it was not connected with the takeover of Johnny Majors as Pitt's new football coach.

WHAT'S UP? — Westfall and Piketon basketball players appear to be spectators in a one-on-one drama between the Mustang's Dave Shannon and Piketon's Roger Grace. The Red Streaks won the game 51-50 after the Mustangs rallied to erase an early deficit. Other players identifiable in the picture from the left are Mustang Jay Clark, Piketon's Dan Mowery and Ralph Williamson, and Westfall's Mike Peterson.

The Vikings hit on 29 of 68 from the field and converted 25 of 32 at the free throw line. West Jeff shot 28 of 75 from the floor and made 13 of 24 attempts from the foul line.

Rebounding honors went to the Vikings 46 to 40 with Jim Logsdon coming up with 13 grabs. Turnovers were about even with Teays Valley having 14 and West Jefferson 12.

The Vikings are now 7-4 for the season and lead the Metro League with a mark of 7-1. They will travel to Logan

Elm tonight to meet the Braves in a top county clash.

Coach Bill Lewis and his rampaging Viking reserve squad ran their record to 11-0 with a 51-37 victory over the Roughriders. They will be shooting for 12 in a row tonight at Logan Elm.

J.C. Snead Widens Lead In Phoenix Tournament

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Big J. C. Snead, who admitted to being a little nervous, wasn't too excited about his three-under-par 67 but looked at his two round total, grinned and said:

"I'll take it."

Snead, a nephew of famed Sam Snead, had just posted a 129 total Friday for 36 holes in the $150,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament—the best tworound score in two years on the tour.

The 11-under-par total gave the husky, 210-pound former professional baseball player a three-stroke margin going into today's third round in the 72-hole chase for a $30,000 first prize.

But the 67 was well off his opening score of 62 on the 6,216 yard Arizona Country Club course—one of the shortest layouts the touring pros play all season.

Snead, winner of three titles in the last two years and the hero of the United States' 1971 Ryder Cup victory over Great Britain, was a solid three strokes in front of Grier Jones, a two-time winner from last season.

The young Kansan had a 68 for 132 and was alone in second, one stroke in front of Dave Hill and Gary Groh. Each had a 68. Tied at 134 were Larry Ziegler, Lanny Wadkins and Dwight Nevil.

Homero Blancas, the defending champion, was in a large group at 135.

Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer and Billy Caspar are not competing.

Carroll Richter's Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent day for you to study the working details of all branches of life, whether they be spiritual, mental, emotional and/or physical. Organize them so you waste less time, energy and money in the days ahead. Consult an expert if in doubt about anything. Keep calm and contented.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can elevate your thoughts to greater things now by making plans to increase your abundance. Study your budget and make allowances for rising prices. Stop worrying and relax at home tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take those treatments that make you more attractive before getting together with those who mean a great deal to you. Then the social hours bring excellent results. Show that you have poise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Some time spent in meditation can bring forth the intuitive faculties that are so helpful to you in dealing with others. Make plans to improve methods of handling regular routines. Relax tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talking seriously with your friends shows you what your position is with them and how much they will cooperate with you. State your ideas clearly. Take time to plan the future more wisely.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Getting together with clever persons who are experts in inspirational, scientific or educational fields is wise. Do research work that is helpful to your progress. Make this an interesting day.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Your intuition is working fine now and you can use it to get ahead faster, especially in personal matters. A show of true devotion to mate is important now. Avoid one who is belligerent.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you come through with promises made to others and insist they do the same with you, all works out fine for you today. Try to cooperate more with mate. Avoid one who is a well-known troublemaker.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Arrange a meeting with associates and work out a plan for more success in the future. You can reconcile with one who has been unfriendly of late. This person is important to your future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) An ideal day to show others how much you appreciate their loyalty and favors of the past, and how much you want them to take part in your future. Take health treatments you need. Avoid gossip.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Attend the services that uplift your spirits and see individuals who are also inspiring. You can make the future brighter for yourself. Take time for romance in the afternoon and evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make your home more charming and comfortable so you can entertain in the evening and have a delightful time. Strive for more harmony with kin. Show that you are a kind and thoughtful person.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) It is important you attend the services of your choice and become more inspired than you have been for some time. Then call on friends and relations and come to a better understanding. Be wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people that everyone will love and want to spoil, so be sure to teach to work for whatever is desired and then, this becomes a successful and happy chart. The field of engineering, banking and entertainment are especially fine here, although writing, medicine and nursing are also good. Religion is a must here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On TV And Radio

The master story-teller, Orson Welles, will deliver an encore performance of readings this month on TV-4, with the world television premiere of "Orson Welles — Part II." The hour-long special is scheduled for Monday, January 15, 7:30-8:30 p.m.

The sequel to the well-received Part I of "Orson Welles Tonight" features Welles in a series of poignant and beautiful readings authored by the little-known Danish author, Carl Ewald, and a story by British dramatist Oscar Wilde.

Introducing Welles on film is another popular contemporary story-teller, Rod Serling.

The stories by Ewald, entitled "My Little Boy," are read by the Oscar-winning Welles with a tremendous depth of meaning and feeling that delivers a message for every father raising a son.

They are the stories of a boy growing up and going away to school for the first time in his young life.

The hour concludes with a moving passage from "The Happy Prince," a fairy tale from the pen of the renowned M. Wilde, which teaches a very universal lesson about humanity.

Welles' tender interpretation of the fable demonstrates conclusively his uncanny ability to hang meaning and dramatic effect on every word he reads.

Listed in "Who's Who In America," Welles has long been considered legendary for his accomplishments in the realm of writing, acting and directing. His spectacular career is highlighted by such events as his unnerving "War of the World" radio broadcast in 1937, and his Academy Award winning role in the film "Citizen Kane."

Views On TV And Radio

The master story-teller, Orson Welles, will deliver an encore performance of readings this month on TV-4, with the world television premiere of "Orson Welles — Part II." The hour-long special is scheduled for Monday, January 15, 7:30-8:30 p.m.

The sequel to the well-received Part I of "Orson Welles Tonight" features Welles in a series of poignant and beautiful readings authored by the little-known Danish author, Carl Ewald, and a story by British dramatist Oscar Wilde. Introducing Welles on film is another popular contemporary story-teller, Rod Serling.

The stories by Ewald, entitled "My Little Boy," are read by the Oscar-winning Welles with a tremendous depth of meaning and feeling role in the film "Citizen Kane."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
